The Students Strive for Modern Educational Goals

A R M

Foreword

"What to remember, what to forget?" This is a question that only time can answer. The important moments will remain; the others will be forgotten. This book was made for YOU, the readers. Its purpose is to help you remember the time, place, the incident, and the people. The pictures are to make you remember and smile, or remember and sigh. No one can fully appreciate this book unless he has lived its story. You are the characters. Turn through the pages often. As you do, think of them as the pages of a yesterday filled with school, friends, laughter, and the fellowship that is often lost through the years. The hard work and effort of many people has recorded this story for you. We sincerely hope you enjoy it. It is yours.

We Salute

the student body of J.H.S. for the initiation of and the successful completion of an outstanding school year under the "Campus Plan."

All are to be commended for the manner in which the Program has been accepted.

Many said, "It couldn't be done," but you as a student body have once again proven that through cooperation, unity, patience, and diligence--"It can be done!" Let us not rest on the achievements of this year but plan ahead for greater accomplishments.

Thomas J. Watson has said that once an organization loses its spirit of pioneering and rests on its early work, its progress stops. May the students of J.H.S. continue to inspire each other to even greater challenges in the years ahead.

Alma Mater

We pledge our honor to the orange and white,
We will be loyal through the day and night, and
Even when we are losing we are winning too,
With our high spirits and hearts so true.

Fite Song

Hail to the Trojans, cheer them along their way.
Onward to victory; may they win again today.
We'll give a cheer for the Trojans.
Long may they reign supreme.
Shout! Till the echoes ring,
For the glory of our team.

School Board

Under the able direction of President James Riggle the Beeville Independent School District Board of Education works to provide all students with opportunities for the finest public school education possible. The board also approves faculty appointments and assumes responsibility for the educational standards and physical facilities. The dedication and sincerity of its members make our schools the growing center of education that they are. For a job well done, the Trojan Annual staff recognizes the Beeville Board of Education.

Administration

The Administration serves as the connecting factor between school and community. It guides without forcing, steers without controlling and directs the overall operation of students, faculty, and personnel.

History records many instances of nations losing wars by mistakenly claiming victory after a single battle has been won. Students of A. C. Jones High School have indisputably won the battle for responsible citizenship recognition by the adults of our area. With one year of operation under the new high school schedule rapidly drawing to a close, I would like to congratulate the student body, faculty, and patrons of the school for the close cooperation and understanding you have demonstrated in changing not only the physical scheduling of classes, but in accepting changes in basic concepts of both student and parental responsibilities.

The ultimate success of this program must be judged by its contribution to the academic preparation and personal adjustment of the students involved in the democratic society in which they live. It is my personal assessment at this time that the program is meeting this challenge. The future development of the program still rests in the hands of the students and patrons it was designed to serve. The acceptance of responsibility for your own actions and the degree of success you have in properly orienting the freshman class each year are of prime importance. A new idea generates enthusiasm among those who share in its inception, this enthusiasm is the key to success. This same enthusiasm is hard to pass on to others. Fortunately nothing is ever perfect from the beginning. Experimentation, refinement of ideas, and change can be the vehicles to encourage continued student interest. Our faith in you has been strengthened immeasurably this year and we look forward to the future with the cherished hope that the "war" of self discipline and respect for the heritage that has been ours will be won.

Archie A. Roberts

Our Principal

At the beginning of the school year, 1962-63 student body was faced with a challenge: Can high school students be given more individual responsibilities, more freedom of choice, and more privileges and be expected to handle these responsibilities, choices and privileges with the good judgement that is required for good citizenship. You have met this challenge in a manner with which I am highly pleased and I commend you for accepting your additional responsibilities under our new schedule. At a time when it seems to be popular to criticize high school students for irresponsibility you have proved that you can accept more responsibility with sound thinking and good judgement. I extend to you my sincerest personal appreciation, for my faith in you has been confirmed. I must remind you, however that greater responsibilities are coming for you in the future. You seniors are going on to greater responsibilities after graduation, and you under-classmen have the responsibility of continuing the good pattern that has been set and of improving in the areas where improvement is needed.

Won't anybody carry my books?

Come dance with us.

"And on the first date, too."

She did it.

Margaret finds her fellow students very friendly!

What, me worry?

Him--a teacher?

My goodness!

Sisters?

Peek-a-boo, I see you.

Ugh! a Pen

Is that spot under the car Mr. Pfenninger?

Birth, Death, and Infinity

Who are you whistling at?

Our group had 20% fewer cavities.

"Peek-a-boo-I see you."

Not a bad idea.

"Your kidding"

The Class

1963 Graduates of A.C. Jones H.S.

We have so many memories, some of them happy, some of them sad, all of them ours. Remember when we were Freshmen--and how we acted like it? The next year we learned the meaning of the word "sophomoric," and lived up to it! Then we were Juniors--upper-classmen. We worked hard on the Prom, and though we were tired and disheveled, the decorations were fresh and beautiful. We didn't feel like Seniors at first. Seniors were supposed to be old and wise. J.H.S. holds too many memories to be printed here, but they'll stay with us, as well as our friendships with Daddy Mac, Uncle Archie, all the kids, and the faculty. There are more buildings now, but the old spirit's still there. Yes, we're very proud to sign our name as one and say "Thanks!" from the
