If these walls could talk,

Would the bricks babble with bathroom gossip
or boom and bellow at halftime?

Would the mortar MUMBLE AND MURMUR
THE REMINDERS FORGOTTEN
by students and staff alike?

Would the gym bleachers backed into storage ECHO THE CHEERS
FROM TUESDAY NIGHT'S GAME?

Would the paneling promise to remember the faces
that never looked twice?

Would success
resound from the stones that were laid when the building first stood?

what would they say?

Would the murals say,

*"Walk proudly down these halls.
You're an A.C. Jones Trojan?"*

Would mirrors show the WINNERS within?

Would old wood

beg to be replaced with new materials in a

STATE-OF-THE-ART

educational facility?

Read what the walls said in this year of transition as old becomes new and the stories of a school become

MEMORIES AND LEGENDS.

The A.D. students rest their brains with a few games during down time at the state meet (at right).

The Academic Decathlon represents some of the most academically disciplined students at A.C. Jones. Team members go to competitions and win many awards every year. This year, they competed at the regional competition and placed among the top 25 Class 4A teams in the state to advance to the state meet. In each event, the JHS students competed with 70-74 others from around the state in ten different subjects. Teams consist of 9 students in three different categories - A Team members, B team members and C team members. A Team, or Honors Team, members were Geli Garcia, Alexandra Chincarini and Christina Causey. B Team, or Scholastic Team, members were Renee DeLisse, Ashley Castillo and Joe Trevino. C Team, or Varsity Team, members were Eli Salinas, Arthur Dominguez and Justin Hilliard.

BARNHART SCHOLARSHIP PROGRAM

HELPING STUDENTS
FURTHER THEIR EDUCATION AND
BETTER THEIR LIVES

Husband-and-wife volunteer team Sherry and Don Clark prepare to meet with a student.

Mrs. Paula Duffy hands Gabriel Pena his dreams and advice on achieving them.

Mrs. Zelma Stricklin lunches with her two students - John Ruiz and Monique Munoz

A.C. Jones is one of the luckiest high schools around, with two programs that reward, help and assist the students. They are the Barnhart Scholarship Foundation and the Renaissance program.

The Joe Barnhart Scholarship Program opened its doors at A.C. Jones on April 15, 1997. Funds for the program come from the foundation named for the late Dr. Barnhart, a former Beeville resident and A.D. Jones graduate. The program helps seniors with that forever burning question: "Where do we go from here?" Headed by Mrs. Paula Duffy and Mrs. Brenda De La Rosa, this has been one of the most successful programs in helping students graduate from high school, and further their education. Students meet with individual adult volunteers regularly and work together to apply for college admissions tests, special programs and of course scholarships.

While Barnhart may help students look beyond graduation, Renaissance rewards them for all their hard work along the way.

Every six weeks, all the juniors and seniors know that if they make all A's & B's and behave themselves, there's a chance at off-campus lunch. Then at the end of the year, if grades are right students get an ultra cool shirt like this year's "Survivor" model.

What's the incentive for freshmen and sophomores to excel academically? Year-end shirts are one reward, but semester parties that allow students to miss class and win other prizes are others. High grades and adding another honor to high school resumes are additional bonuses that come with Renaissance recognition.

Mitch Sibley and his volunteer Mrs. Martha Warner hook 'em with traditional UT horns.

Brooke Johnson works to get a scholarship application done before its deadline.

Volunteer Mrs. Beverly Hoaglin and Mary Ann Dominguez get to work.

COACHES' WORDS ECHO OFF THE COURT

The volleyball teams had a great season this year, finishing the season with a 17-win, 10-loss record. While the scores and opponents from the fall will fade in the players' memories, what their coaches had to say won't soon be forgotten.

The Lady Trojans will never forget Coach Trevino yelling to the varsity girls to, "Move your feet!" or Coach Bowman saying repeatedly to the junior varsity, "Insanity is doing the same things, the same way, over and over, and expecting different results." Then there was Coach Roddy telling the Freshmen girls to "lose the attitude and leave if you don't want to be here."

Some of the girls said that the most memorable moments the team had was "floor sweeps," or winning tournaments. All in all, the season held its highs and lows and lots of memories for the future.

TENNIS Q & A

Questions and Answers with Coach John Kidd

Q: What was a memorable moment
you/team had this year?

A: April 8, 2004 - when Julie and
Lesley Latcham won the District 29-
4A double title against Pleasanton

Q: What is the motto that your team went by this year?

A: Focus on the ball

All of the coaches each had their own motivational messages that they repeated all year long. Coach Roddy would shout, "Down and back - Go!" Coach Jones stuck with the slogan, "Be the Bacon." Even Coach Webb had her own words of wisdom - "Play as a team. You are a better team than the final score reflected."

LADY TROJANS SCORE MEMORIES

Lady Trojan Basketball made winning impressions and lasting memories in the 2003-04 season.

Varsity Coach Tiffany Jones' most memorable moment this year was receiving second place in district and getting into the playoffs playing against Floresville at our home gym in front of the largest and rowdiest crowd the team had seen all year.

Coach Sherri Webb also had a memorable moment when the junior varsity squad won the district game against South San by a free throw with only seconds left on the clock. She will also remember the overall improvement and team work of the season.

The freshmen girls will never forget the bus rides to and from the Victoria Tournament.

PLAYERS HUSTLE THROUGH SEASON OF BASKETBALL

The boys basketball teams had a great season this year, earning a season record of 11-6 and a district record of 3-7.

The team will never forget when they got beat by their exes in the annual contest. While the players may have been surprised by the game's outcome, it brought back memories of years past and several former great teams. Coach Mike Luce felt proud knowing that he was part of developing that talent and building those players.

None of the guys will ever get Coach Luce's voice out of their heads as they heard the same thing over and over everyday - "We've got to cut down on the turnovers and be able to put the ball in the hole to win. Remember: We do not get out-hustled."

JHS WRESTLING TEAM KEEPS DISTRICT TITLE

For the fourth year in a row, the A.C. Jones wrestling team dominated the District 31-5A meet and brought home fourth place at regionals.

"Practice does not make perfect," coach Terry Foster told the wrestlers throughout the season. "Practice of perfection makes perfect."

That advice and new "strictly wrestling" facilities helped motivate the team to its title. It also helped spur the junior varsity squad on to win the district JV title.

"We took five wrestlers to state," Coach Foster said at the end of the year. Of those five, three will return as part of the team's winning tradition. With a strong past and high expectations for the future, the team plans to keep on winning and bringing home gold.

GIRLS SOCCER TEAM WORKS HARD TO WIN

The girls soccer team had an awesome season this year. Teammates will never forget the first district game against Cadallen when the Lady Trojans nearly beat their foes. Winning second place at the Beeville tournament was a memorable moment for everyone. None of the girls will ever forget Coach Dean telling them before and after every game and at half time to keep their heads up and never give up. "Always believe in yourself and your team," he would remind them.

Two lucky girls are getting a chance to move forward and play the sport they love. Jessica Smith and Quera Voelkel will both be playing at Concordia University.

TROJAN SOCCER WORKS TO BUILD ITS FOUNDATION

The boys soccer team had an pretty good year. The boys went pretty far in the first tournament they played in, but they didn't make it all the way. With a 4-2-10 season, Coach Norberto Ponce was thrilled that the Beeville squad later beat teams that had beaten them earlier in the season. The boys will never forget Ponce yelling to "Pass the ball, talk to each other." Even the girls team won't forget him yelling it to the boys everyday.

JHS LADIES MAKE HISTORY WINNING DISTRICT 10-0

This year, the Lady Trojan softball team dominated district, finishing with a perfect 10-0 record. The team faced five competitive teams twice. Playing hard, they enjoyed a 17-game winning streak until losing the regional quarterfinal contest to San Antonio McCollum.

For an unusual twist, the team bet Coaches Adolfo Dominguez and Larry Lollar for color. If the girls went 10-0 in district, the men would have to wear pink to school. After the 10th district win, the team presented their coaches with bright pink District Champs tees.

PROUD TROJANS WORK FOR WINS

One! Two! Three strikes! You're out! But this wasn't an ordinary season. The Beeville Trojans worked harder than ever this year after compiling a less than glowing district record. The boys stepped it up as the district's underdogs and made it all the way to state quarter finals. The Trojans were up after they beat Pharr-San Juan-Alamo, but the tough team from the Valley came back to win the three game playoff series and advance in state play.

Although the Trojans didn't win state, they made memories to last a lifetime. Some of the team's most memorable moments included winning the Beeville tournament, beating San Antonio McCullom to make the playoffs, stomping Robstown for the bi-district title and beating Sharyland - then ranked No. 5 in the state - for the area championship. The team learned firsthand what coaches told them repeatedly through the season: "In order to be a playoff team, you have to carry yourself like a playoff team." Carrying themselves proudly, the team brought pride to the school and community this spring.

Track runners this year took records seriously and broke as many as they could. The boys 4x200 meter relay broke the school record at Javelina Relays, and many of the athletes set new personal bests at meets throughout the spring. CHEERLEADERS BUILD THAT TROJAN SPIRIT

At every football game, volleyball game and basketball game, there is always a sudden burst of inspiration. That rush comes from the cheerleaders. These short-skirted muses rally the crowd and bring the team spirit to life. This year, the squad got to prove its talent by competing at nationals. Finishing in 12th place after preliminaries, the cheering athletes fell just two places short of making it to finals. These motivational leaders accomplish something spectacular at every game - they cheer on the players no matter what the final score!

Special Events

Coloring the Walls With Spirit

Every year Homecoming brings in a new crowd of die hard Trojan Fans and a week of non-stop event planning. This year, the week kicked off in battle mode with Camo Day. Then came Twin Day, Teacher Day, 80's Rock Day and Spirit Day.

On Thursday night, Trojans burned the BT behind the tennis courts. At Friday afternoon's pep rally, it was all out war between the classes. The band started things by parading through the halls. Then everyone went to the stadium. There were several events such as the PALS entertainment with Trojan Request Live. With class competition tough, the seniors emerged victorious and won the spirit stick. At the football game later that evening, the night kicked off with the announcement of winners on the Royal Court. Then it was on to the game as fans watched the Mighty Trojan Football Team triumph over their opponents.

What a Crowd! Homecoming Pep Rally was one of the biggest events attended this year.

PALS put on a great shit. Fans even had their very own Trojan Requests Live.

Everyone attended this Pep Rally, even "Jewel." She sang a special songs for the Trojans.

In November, the yearbook staff successfully put together a competition between the classes at A.C. Jones. It started off as a new fund-raiser; however it ended up being a new tradition set for the future students. The classes clashed in many wild events including a live chicken race, limbo, Name that Tune, musical chairs, extreme Simon Says, a clothes exchange.

As the afternoon grew into evening and then night, the tension built between the classes. Scores were secret throughout the series of events. Everyone was dying to know which two teams made it to the final battle. When the last person crossed the finish line in the last game, the potato-apple race, the crowd cheered them along.

Then the time came, the moment that the competitors were waiting for as well as the staff, and crowd. It was dead silence as the scores were getting tallied up. The junior class and the senior class had made it to the final battle. It couldn't get better than that. The biggest rivals met together to try to capture the win. The final battle consisted of three events - giant memory, tug-of-war, and a six-man ski race. In giant memory the teams tied. In the tug-of-war, the seniors won. That left the final game - the game that determined which class would go down in history as the 1st Annual Trojan War Battle of the Classes champs. A team on six-man skis could only move if the team worked together. There was no "I" in this game. Once the horn blew, the class teams were off. Seniors were in the lead at the halfway point, with the juniors close behind. With happiness shining on their face, the seniors crossed that finish line as a team - the winning team. The victors celebrated for about a minute. After that, however, they realized how much trouble the Junior were facing in finishing the event. As a team the senior class ran to the juniors' sides and cheered them along the way to the finish line. Not only did the War bring the classes closer, but it also showed that with all classes uniting together the student body becomes the true heart of a Mighty Trojan.

DUST FLIES WHEN GIRLS HIT THE FIELD

Coliseum becomes Polynesian Paradise

Once every year there is a reason for girls to get their hair done, go shopping for an evening gown, get new shoes and the most fashionable jewelry. Guys get the chance to rent tuxes and actually spend the whole day getting ready. That's right it's PROM -- a night of music, dancing, and having fun with all your friends.

This year prom held on April 17 at the Bee County Coliseum. It was a Polynesian Paradise with an array of different colored dresses including sea blue, black, pink, orange and gold. And who can forget those white tuxes? Doubtfully, few will forget the evening and fun.

PAL stands for Peer Assitant Leadership. At A.C. Jones, PALS is a wonderful, fulfilling program for students. In order to be a PAL, you have to be a junior or a senior and have gone through an interview process. This year, there were 22 people in the class. Every week on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, the PALS class visited FMC, R.A. Hall and Madderia-Flournoy Elementaries. There, children eagerly waited for the class. Seeing the look of enjoyment and surprise on every single one of the younger kids' faces was something PALs could hardly describe.

A bike rodeo, Jump Rope For Heart and field day were some of the activities that the class assisted with this year. By participating in programs like these, PALs learn to be good, dependable friends to others of all ages.

During class, ROTC members practice, practice, practice to make perfect for annual inspection.

Criminal Justice

Thanks to Criminal Justice Instructor Chovan Mayo, the A.C. Jones High School Criminal Justice program is one of the fastest growing organizations in the BISSD school district. Students learn tactics and do working simulations to acquire the skills needed to work in the criminal justice field after graduating from high school. By joining these classes, students can earn college credit that can be applied toward a certificate at Coastal Bend College.

Criminal Justice Instructor Chovan Mayo congratulates his students on an amazing professional performance.

The girls from A.C. Jones Choir made students and staff proud in Dallas after performing in the Meyerson Symphony Center. Afterward, (above, left to right) Destiny DelBosque, Jessica Nunez, Mistie Arismendez and Janelle Hernandez kick back while waiting for the bus.

The A.C. Jones Choir accomplished much this year as many student made All-District and All-Region Choir. In addition, the singers put on spectacular performances at the Christmas and spring concerts. The JHS choir knows how to work hard, but its members also know how to have fun. The choir trip to Dallas was an excellent opportunity to bring the year to a close with top notch performance and leisure.

After a solid performance, the choir rocks hard at the legendary Hard Rock Cafe and enjoy one of the unique dining experiences Dallas offers.

The bus ride (below) seemed to be just as fun as the trip itself.

Here is where the music is created and the man hours are logged - the band hall. It is a sanctuary for A.C. Jones band members.

Flutes and other woodwinds balance the bold sounds of brass instruments.

The many bands at A.C. Jones High School played in perfect harmony and filled the school with music throughout the year. Members competed in and dominated many competitions this year. Even with the departure of many seniors, the Trojan Band is looking forward to an excellent year in 2004-05. The color guard helped bring the entire halftime shows together, putting on brilliant displays that included flying flag colors and dance.

Both at home and away from campus, the JHS bands know how to represent the school standing proud and tall.

Spotlight on Building Tradesman MORGAN HUGHES

Senior Morgan Hughes is a man of many talents and skills. Not only good with his hands in building trades and welding, Morgan also excels in agricultural events. As a hard-working student named a South Texas Distinguished Scholar, the future is looking bright for this entrepreneurial young man. He plans to attend Austin Community College in Austin in the fall and major in building trades and construction. He eventually plans to own his own business.

Students learn valuable skills and trades such as teamwork, discipline and respect for dangerous machinery.

T R A D E S

Allen Buckman welds a water trough as a project for class. Hard work is what welding is all about.

Following in his fathers footsteps junior Paul Mylnar(right) helps senior Morgan Hughes put a guard on a tractor. Morgan and Paul both competed at state welding this year and were successful.

A student welder works wears the proper safety mask to protect his eyes from the harmful ultraviolet rays of the flame.

Building young professionals with on-the-job training and in-the-classroom learning and studies

A few of A.C. Jones finest the DECA members learn responsibility, leadership and real world skills through the program. Besides getting a job and having the responsibility of maintaining it, members learn respect for authority, life lessons, and how to be exemplary. Students have received scholarships as well as other honors and awards.

Business Professionals of America members were students in Jackie Bowman's fifth period class. They included (front row, from left) Monica Soto, Marlene Perez, Heather Bernal, Ashley Young; back row, Lauren Flores, Samantha Benavidez, JoAnna Rodriguez and Bowman. Class members not pictured are Bethann Hyatt, Crystal Rodriguez and Mallory Whitenton.

Officers of FCA 03-04 were John Bolland, Julie Latcham, Ryan Luna, Samantha Breidenbach, Clay Rippstien, Lesley Latcham and sponsor Mr. Adolfo Dominguez.

FCA meets at the pole along with other students.

Fellowship of Christian Athletes is widely known at A.C. Jones. Members believe it's establishment has been one of the best things to happen to the school since the separation of church and state. Every other Wednesday, young Christian athletes meet to discuss joys and concerns while enjoying a peaceful gathering where they can be unafraid to share their faith and support one another.

At every FCA you'll also enjoy dinner with friends just like Colleen Saenz, Amber Tucker, and Rudy Ortega.

At left, officers fill noise makers to be sold for homecoming as a fundraiser.

Active members for years, Seniors Lindsey Hutchins and Tiera Wright hick back for Wednesday's scripture reading and lesson.

With affluent creativity from this years members projects were a success. They included painting the mural at prom, decorating Mr. Rivera's filing cabinet and more.

Art Club

One of this year's up and coming organizations is the Art Club. Headed by Mr. Jerry Rivera, the Beeville Art Department has pushed the boundaries of what art is. Members have experimented with new techniques and mediums including still life, human models, and even Power Point. With this diverse display, it is no wonder why the group has been asked for the past couple of years to paint backdrops for prom committees. With Mr. Rivera setting sights high, everyone plans to enjoy more extravagant works to come.

Judging teams excel

This year's varsity livestock judging team turned heads all over the state, receiving recognition everywhere it competed. It was a rare occasion that the team of seniors Lade Rogers, Morgan Hughes and Jake Salvagno and sophomore Cara Collavo didn't rank in the top 10, even when competing against hundreds of other teams. A strong greenhand team will help fill the void left by graduation to keep the program's future bright.

This year's staff has been hard at work to ensure a quality book. Logging the man hours to put out a book that portrays the changes and attributes to A.C. Jones has been this year's top priority. Putting together a yearbook is no easy task but this year's staff knows the value of teamwork.

ACCORDING TO THE DRESS CODE

Students always find their ways to rebel. It's part of the teenage norm in every school. This year, students rebelled when it came to following dress code. The dress code said striped shirts weren't allowed. Some students pushed authority wearing it anyway. Others chose a tone-on-tone stripe in the same hue. Still others just followed the code. In one way or another, most students found ways to skirt the clothing rules and test to see if they would get caught. On some days, they did. On others, they changed into the alternate attire they brought along for safety's sake, called home for a change of clothes or spent the rest of the day in ISS. Here are a few samples of what people wore to make their statement and

GO AGAINST THE CODE.

SENIOR MEMORIES

THESE WERE SOME OF THE WERID, FUNNY, ADVENTUROUS, SAD AND WAD MOMENTS THAT WERE TALKED ABOUT AND EVEN CAUGHT ON CAMERA THAT MADE SENIOR YEAR A YEAR TO REMEMBER!

Embarassing Moments :

"When I was walking out of the science wing outside and I tripped over the mat and fell. My shoe flew off, and everything in my purse fell out. Eric Vasquez kept laughing in my face."

-Brittany De La Rosa

"When I jumped over a hurdle that was backwards, I fell and broke my wrist, freshmen year."

-Keaton Wright

"When Ozzie tripped me and I fell in the aisle at Annual."

-Shauniece Hadden

"At lunch, Eric Lopez and Robert Campos attacked me with whipped cream, and everyone was laughing. It was bad."

-Monique Munoz

Remember when those crazy seven boys spelled out SENIORS on their stomachs to show off their class pride?

Remember how sad you felt after playing your last game senior year?

Remember when the Varsity Baseball team got to play under the lights at Aviator Stadium for the first time?

Remember when Eric Lopez and Gabriel Pena were throwing together and by lunch time Gabriel showed up with a swollen nose?

Remember when sneaky Maricela Munoz, Bada Moreno, Monique Munoz, Philliana Garza and Allison Areba, with the help of fellow classmates, captured the sophomore and junior spirit sticks?

Remember when A.O. Jones had its very own "Breakfast Club", "Josie & The Pussycats", "T-Birds & Pink Ladies", "Spartan Cheerleaders", "Roxbury Boys" and "The Fab Five"?

Remember when Brandon Mack fell face first into the ground while attempting to klee off?

Remember when you would go to the library two periods before English class to get Spark Notes to find out what a novel was about?

Remember when the Seniors won Trojan War?

Would a fly on the wall have...

...seen you fall in those slippery hallways?
...heard you moan and whine before entering that stressful class?
...felt your pain as you got pushed around in those crowded halls?
...laughed at you as you tugged in your shirt right before you entered the cafeteria or when you tried to get ice in your cup while you balanced your lunch tray with your other hand?
...followed you to those out-of-town sports events?
...listened to you lie to your parents on the weekends when they asked, "Where are you?"

Embarassing Moments :

"After Homecoming, we all went to Eric Lopez's house. We were talking with each other, and out of nowhere, a shoe comes flying toward me and hit my face."

-Desiree D. Hernandez

"When I was at lunch and Brittany De La Rosa wanted to see my shoe. I tried to lift my leg above the table, and I fell off the seat right on my back, junior year!"

-R.J. Benitez

In Loving Memory of our Dear Friends Rodrigo Rodriguez Jr. and Christopher Dale Cook

"For Roddy"
April 21, 1986-April 20, 2003

You're always in our prayers.
You're always in our hearts.
The day that God took you,
Our whole world fell apart.
You were such a good friend,
The best that there could be.
And now you're gone
And we're left with all this misery.
It happened so fast,
That the whole world shook.
We sit and cry and wonder why,
It was you that God took.
They say that God only takes the best,
And he picked you above the rest.
I know we shouldn't mourn,
Because every time someone dies,
A new life is born.
Remembering what you'd say,
Missing you every day.
Longing to see your face.
Knowing that in our hearts,
Your name has a special place.
You'll never be forgotten.
You'll always be missed.
You gave us the greatest gift of all.
You gave us your friendship.
You're always on our mind and
We wish we could turn back the hands of time.
Just to be with you one more day.
To say the things we have to say.
A friend like no other,
To us you were our darling sweet big brother
We love you so much,
But of course you knew.
Our heart is left empty,
Because we lost you.
As you wait for us at the gates of Heaven,
We think of you always 24/7.
We feel safe now,
As you look down.
Our very own angel and friend,
Sooner or later this hole in our heart will mend.
We hear your joyful laugh,
We see your handsome face.
Our dear friend Roddy...
You can never be replaced.

Randi N. Padron

In our years as students we have had two terrible tragedies befall us. Two of the greatest people were lost in tragic accidents.

&
Rodrigo Rodriguez Jr.
April 21, 1986 - April 20, 2003

They will forever be in our thoughts and prayers, and they will always be in our hearts. We may have lost our friends but only to gain our Guardian Angels.

"R.I.P CDC"

We were only freshmen
when his life was taken.

Thought I'd go insane living with all the pain.

As painful as it seems
he still lives in my dreams.

Now I can never forget though, I hold no regret.

Why'd he have to leave me?
Now and forever, remember tha' CDC.

Sincerest thanks

The Trojan staff wishes to express its sincere thanks and appreciation to Beeville Publishing Company and Bee-Picayune Sports Editor Bruce Harper. Jeff and Chip Larchian continuously support A.C. Jones High School and scholastic journalism at every available opportunity. Bruce offered many of the outstanding pictures of Trojan athletes for use and publication in this book. Thanks also to Mark Valdez for the use of excellent sports photos.

Athletic and organization group photos taken by Rice-Huser Photography, individual senior portraits taken by Galloway Photography and individual student and staff portraits taken by Strawberry Studios are all integral parts of this yearbook as well. We appreciate and enjoy the partnerships we maintain with these local photography experts.

Although a staff of 15-20 individuals put together this book, we do so with the help of those around us. We appreciate the assistance and cooperation of all A.C. Jones High School teachers, coaches, administrators, auxiliary staff members and organization sponsors who helped provide information, photos and support for the book.

Finally, we appreciate the individuals and businesses which support our publication with financial funding. We hope that money spent on advertising to produce this book truly serves each entity as an investment rather than simply an expenditure.

The 74th volume of The Trojan was published by A.C. Jones High School students in Melissa Holubec's 4th period Yearbook class with the assistance of Taylor Publishing Company representatives Mary Jones, Shannon Trial and Kathi Hopkins.

Students and advisor used six desktop personal computers in JHS Room 107 along with desktop and laptop computers owned personally by staff members running Taylor's EliteVision and MasterList software programs. Pages were submitted to Taylor on 3x5 diskettes, printed on 8 1/2 x 11-inch #80 enamel paper, Smyth sewn, rounded and backed. Matte lithocote covers feature the book's theme and silver foil customization. Endsheets include a silver thermoscreen Trojan printed on orange rainbow stock just inside the book's front cover. Four hundred copies were printed at Taylor's Dallas plant under the supervision of Liz Hernandez, account executive.

After an initial selling price of $35 in March and April 2004, pre-sale prices rose to $40 in May. Waiting list price was $50. Accessories available included name stamping for $5, plastic covers for $2 and autograph sheets for $2.
