Students enter studies with new spirit

For many students A. C. Jones was the entrance to adulthood. It was the time and place for discovering not only the world and the intricacies of life, but the inner self as well. The high school years were made especially for maturing with a renaissance of spirit. They represented a period for learning concepts that would make life fruitful and rewarding. A. C. Jones provided a basis for rebirth, in a world filled with triumphs and failures.
School days are filled with variety
Growth anew each day

Students worked, studied, and played. Each day brought about growth, as a result of various activities. Teachers nurtured students toward their full potential. The band offered play and hours of practice. The office activities gave students knowledge for the future. The faculty kept up with what was expected of them through weekly faculty meetings, where ideas were exchanged. The health of each student was not forgotten as football and other activities kept the body sound for mental activities. The year was a rebirth for our student body.
Students enter studies with new spirit

Students shown on these pages were "busy as bees," trying to accomplish various goals. New facilities and instructional guidelines motivated the students toward rebirth of spirit.
Trojans win homecoming 28-0

The Beeville Trojans made it a night to remember when they defeated the Sinton Pirates, 28-0. Besides homecoming, it was the Trojan’s first home game of the season. The wait was well worth it for the Trojan fans. It appears that a rebirth of football was taking place. After three games on the road, they had increased their season record to three wins and one loss.

The senior members of the court and their escorts were: Norma Perez, Larry Andrade; Nancy Butler, Mike Teter; and Rhonda Blanton, Clint Britton.
Success yields happiness

It was a successful evening for the Mighty Trojans. The eleven won their homecoming game 28-0, giving them a 3-1 win and loss record. Allison Adair was voted homecoming queen and the bonfire set the night ablaze with victory hues. Norma Perez was voted Princess of the senior class. Eva Dominguez became the junior class princess, and Connie Carrell got the sophomore nod as sophomore princess, with Dena Salinas the freshman princess.
Fall spirit and sports go together
Classwork combines with teamwork
TROJAN RENAISSANCE

This was a time of emphasis on renewed interest and enthusiasm, a time when we all came together in dedication to the myriad opportunities of each new day. The days passed all too quickly, but the winning Trojan spirit never left the hearts of those who shared it. Time took the years, but not the memories, of the true Trojan. Armed with shield and sword, we ventured forth to meet Life, the great, ongoing, supreme Rebirth...
All take part in football mania

Chris—our Swedish friend

Pictured above is the charming family of Chris Marklund, our A.F.S. student from Sweden. Sister Elizabeth, mother Birgit and father Carl Gustav sent a formal family portrait for Chris’ memory book. The Wayne Simpkins family, Karen, Cynthia, Wayne and Mrs. Simpkins, made up our Swedish friend’s American counterparts.

Chris came to this country from the town of Harndsand, which has a population similar to that of Beeville—50,000.
Ahead are the unknown days of tomorrow

Success is counted sweetest
By those who ne'er succeed.
To comprehend a nectar
Requires sorest need.

Who took the flag to-day
Can tell the definition,
So clear, of victory,

As he, defeated, dying,
On those whose forbidden ear
The distant strains of triumph
Break, agonized and clear.

The last is but the beginning
Each day is a challenge and a reward

The senior class was an active group during the 1981-82 academic year. Their rebirth took place in the classroom, in the shops, on the playing field, in the band and at "homecoming." Each day brought new knowledge, new experiences and new challenges.

The year was a year of rapid change and often left one with feelings of insecurity and indecision about one's place in an increasingly complex world, but it was the most exciting, the most productive of times. The rebirth came about because of a sense of humor, a sense of dedication, and a high value placed on life and growth and the determination to find solutions to each day's problems.
It is a good vintage year

Cynthia Simpkins discusses Sweden with Christina Marklund, our A.F.S. student from Sweden.

During band practice Cynthia Garza lines up for formation and practices her position while Gabriel Martinez loosens up on his horn.
It is a busy day for most students at A. C. Jones High School. Margo Ortega and Michael Gornée with Jill Bates work hard on a library research assignment for an English class. It is just part of a long, academic day. Rudy Diaz and Joe L. Martinez take lecture notes during one of Mr. Perez's science lectures. The notes will go a long way toward making it a successful year for both students.
Teachers present and students learn
On the previous page you see a picture of Leslie Rash and Cathy Valdezama with their classmates busy reading their English assignment and answering pertinent questions. Vicki Bowers concentrates on her physical science assignment. Nohemi Benavidez is enjoying her family life cooking assignment. Mrs. Fischer, math instructor, gives a problem to Alex May and Connie Cantwell as their daily proof problem. Darrell Lewis checks a board assignment in chemistry. A very busy day for all.
Many learning activities for juniors

John Bocquet and Daniel McAfee work out a chemistry problem as part of their daily learning activities. Sharon Crockett is busy pulling files for counselors as part of her avocational pursuits. Paul Bautista, Edwin Rydell, Erwin Rydell concentrate on a difficult math problem as part of their daily mental gymnastics. All in all our students put in a busy, active, mental day at A. C. Jones High School.

The juniors worked very hard in their classes this year. In English they completed the five year plan. Future scientists thrived in their new environment—the new science wing. The math classes were always a challenge. The physical side of the student body was not forgotten. A strong physical education program continued throughout the year.

Abraham Segovia, Ricky Gonzalez, Alicia Guajardo, Chris Cervantes, Jasper Clay, Doug Holland and John Loya complete a vocabulary study unit.

Tony Zamora and Ony Trevino, along with Gavino Gomez, complete their individual study program which they find successful.

Ricky Gonzalez, Ricky Valencia, Chris Cervantes, Doug Holland, Jasper Clay and Abel Garcia actively pursue an education through their individual study plan.
Juniors ponder life's questions

The English program has many facets that allow each student to pursue his own pathways to successful learning. Various individual programs are found in the math department. Mrs. Chandler has successfully challenged her students through a program of stock market analysis. The science department has come through with daily challenges in problem solving experiments. Individual teachers were always available to help students through the cloudy morass of each day's challenges.

Alicia Guajardo, Chris Cervantes, Doug Holland, Jasper Clay, and John Loya take on the challenge of independent study.

Mrs. McGowan helps Ricky Gonzales work out his study plan as Ricky Valencia awaits his turn.

Kim Martin does her thing at the Library Club bake sale which proved to be highly successful.

ORGANIZATIONS
Annual staff makes it a colorful year

Mr. McGowan, adviser, and James Moron, Layout Editor, layout pages for publication.

It was quite a year for the Trojan staff. They began the year with a first place spirit award in San Angelo and followed up with a 3rd place award during the Western Week celebrations.

For the first time in many years the Trojan will be issued in early May. The annual has also gone for color. The entire senior section was color designed as well as the opening pages.

The Trojan staff was also assigned production facilities for their daily use. It was greatly appreciated by the staff.

The staff also held various fund raising activities such as bake sales, car washes and T-shirt sales. All in all it was an active year.

Trojan newspaper has an interesting year

Miss Jean Dugat was the adviser for this year’s Trojan newspaper. Their function was to publish a newspaper and to make a study of state, local and national newspapers.

The students also learned how to interview, write headlines and write feature stories.

The staff took part in the U.I.L. contests and work with the Quill and Scroll activities.

Mr. Jean Dugat, adviser, goes over proofing rules with Susan Nelson prior to editing copy.
A.F.S. shares cultures and learning

The A.F.S. brings together young people, families and communities to share in an adventure of cross-cultured living and learning. It is a unique program which acknowledges that peace is a dynamic concept that is nurtured both between and within nations when people begin to live together creatively.

The main purpose of the A.F.S. is aimed at working toward world peace by stimulating an awareness of mankind’s common humanity.

The local chapter was very active this year planning parties, taking part in Western Week functions and presenting social functions for the exchange student and the club members.

A.F.S. exchange student, Christina Marklund, extends a warm hello to the citizens of Boeville during Western Week activities.

The "S" club is sponsored by the Soroptimist Federation of the American, Inc. The S club stands for service. The members painted cars for rallies, painted downtown to show spirit, visited rest homes and made hospital visits and took part in operation face lift. The members also sponsored the spirit chain and the slave day.

Cathy Valderrama, Margaret Clark and Connie Wingenter enjoy the S initiation and the joke sessions that accompanied the event.

Members of the Key Club fight to see who will get to sit on the cake of ice.

The A.C. Jones High School Key Club was organized in 1950 and is sponsored by the local Kiwanis Club. Faculty advisor is Larry A. Erler. The Key Club is a service club and has several major projects throughout the year. The Annual Christmas Welfare Drive, the Key Club Basketball Tournament, and the Key Club Kiwanis Bar-B-Que are major projects. Club members usher at all home football games, assist in flag raising ceremonies, work at Western Week Celebration and do other numerous Community Services projects. The club annually attends the District Convention and this year it was in Ft. Worth, Texas, April 25-27.

Reagan Jordan, Junior, does not look too happy about his Key Club initiation.

Jennie Green, Linda Alaniz and Vicki Hoff were the co-directors for the fine Fall production of "Where The Lillies Bloom." Over 60 students took part in bringing the production to the boards.

The production was held for two nights, Friday and Saturday. In addition there was a production for the students on Monday. It was well attended and provided a treat for all who came as viewers.
Colorguard adds zest to halftime activities

Drum Majors keep halftime activities productive

As high school bands are changing from the familiar high step marching to the new trend known as "Corps Style", the colorguard, consisting of the rifle corps and flag corps, are playing a more and more important part in the band performance.

This year's captains were Sandra San Miguel, Becky Boyer and Larry Andrade. These fine captains led their squads on the field and showed the enthusiasm and dedication that entertained so many fans. The guard placed second at the Calallen Festival and three members of the rifle line, Larry, John, and Tom all received superior ratings on solos.

The group worked very hard this year and should be commended for all their band work and spirit shown this year.

No halftime activities would be complete without the flag corps and the rifle corps along with the marching music of the band. All have worked together to bring us the fine halftime thrills that we were all witness to this last year.
The first week of August saw the band in their familiar role practicing on the green fields of A.C. Jones. Mr. Cason and Mr. Barron led the troops in their daily drills and practices.

The band performed at every game, rain or shine. They helped to bring our teams to each Friday night victory.

Robstown was the scene of this year’s UIL competition. The band picked up a 2 rating, just missing out on the all valuable 1 rating.

New uniforms were on the agenda for the band this year. They are to be a bright orange, pants and coats. The uniforms will have more fancy stitching.

Chuck Knowlton just moved to Beeville and has made this last year a successful one for the Trojan Band. Mr. Cason added a new musician, Stephen Anthony, a bundle of joy for the Casons.

Hamp Brockman was selected as the jazz guitarist to compete at the state level.

Dwayne Romine and Danny Molina get set for a daily work out as does Lee Farias.

Before the Gregory Portland game the band members line up for inspection by Jill Guerra.
New advisers bring new life to student council

Mrs. Bomersbach, adviser to the student council, greets Mr. Glen Pfial, Refugio adviser during a A. C. Jones invitational to discuss student council problems and successes.
New ideas exchanged between Refugio and Trojans

The student council had a very busy year. In August they helped with school registration and freshmen orientation. September found the council painting posters, holding an orange ribbon day, and decorating the town. Workshops were held with Corpus Christi King, Port Lavaca and Tuloso-Midway. The secret pal project was initiated.

Workshops were held with Calallen, West Oso and Rockport in October. The time assembly and radio week also kept members busy. November found the council in a parade of signs, visiting rest homes, and holding the Thanksgiving assembly. December brought a flurry of Christmas activities and caroling. The Fischer/Bomersbach party was held.

January found a winter workshop in progress and the initiation of the SCORE program. Voting was held for the Boy and Girl of the semester. February was hot lips contest, singing telegrams and the student smoker. Another entertainment assembly was held.

March and April brought in Easter activities and a spring convention. Public schools week kept the council active.

In May the secret pal met the teacher assigned at an ice cream social. Members also served doughnuts to teachers at a workshop and the graduation ceremonies completed a very active year.
National Honor Society represents our most intelligent

The National Honor Society was formed to stimulate a desire for and to give recognition to high scholarship. The principles upon which the National Honor Society is formed are four-fold: Scholarship, Leadership, Character, and Service. Each year the candles are lit to represent the four principles and new honorees are brought into the organization.

Honor students are such because they remain active academically.
VOE does their part in the Western Week activities

The girls of the VOE dress up their finest western wear and give the spectators an enthusiastic cheer.

The Western Week festivities are only successful if groups and organizations take the time to plan and participate in the week's activities. One of the organizations that helped this last year to make this last Western Week so successful was the VOE organization of A.C. Jones.

Mrs. Jackie Arthur, adviser, took pride in her charges' energy participation. She said "The group gave it their all and I'm proud of them and their activities."

Sweetheart Monica Jefferson, escorted by David Autry, do their thing during the Western Week activities.
V.O.C.T. trains for the future

Mr. Linney’s General Mechanics class trains the youth to work on small engine repair and that general mechanic work which will provide the student with a skill for the future. The students learn how to weld, to tear down and repair small engines, and to develop faith in themselves to do a good job.

Mr. Simpkins works with his co-op students and helps them to find employment in the local work market. The students get jobs at restaurants, gas stations, department stores, and small repair shops. The students receive on the job training in an area of interest and get paid for working as well as getting a grade for their classroom studies.

D.E.C.A. places students in the field

Oliva Benavides checks out the 1981 Trojan for familiar faces.

Distributive Education Club of America is a program of instruction teaching marketing. The D.E.C.A. motto is to develop future leaders for marketing, distribution. This year they sold #1 hands. Health bars and candy were sold this year. A yearly banquet was held and a field trip was taken. The members also participated in the annual contest in March.

Ms. Madina, Sweetheart of the DECA Club, rides in a car float for Western Week.
The Trojan Women come through again

The pride and joy of our fans is the organization known as the Varsity Cheerleaders. Above we see Laura Shillars, Yvette Orea, Julie Chapman, Nancy Butler (Head) Eva Dominguez, Jenni Green and Lori Gieger pose for their color portrait in a familiar grouping to the fans.

Our varsity cheerleaders have given undying support to our basketball and football teams this year. It was their actions and support which helped a great deal in bringing victories and two championships to our teams.

The cheerleaders put the fire in our weekly pep rallies and in the stands each and every game. Their technique brought the troup ribbons at camp and at district competition.

Jenni Green tries to soothe Robert Garcia's feelings over the varsity's first and only loss of the season.
Cheerleaders firm up pep rallies and half-times

Our varsity cheerleaders join in the winning spirit fever with the varsity eleven after a sweet Gregory-Pontiand victory.

During the Thanksgiving break our varsity girls took part in the downtown celebration for the Brownsville Bi-District game which the mighty Trojans won 27-13.

Steve Orchard and Julie Chapman go over the game play which proved to be successful.

This was THE year for the Trojans and it was a GREAT year for the Varsity Cheerleaders. For the first time in 42 years our boys went the whole way and took all the marbles.

It is an easy job for the girls, our Trojan Women, when you taste the sweet meat of victory each week. Our girls went all out to maintain the spirit, week after week. Their fervor never waned and it went a long way to making it our best season of all time. Much thanks has to go to the varsity women. We can all be proud of their efforts this year.
Freshmen squad creates spirit and support

Cheerleaders join in a prayer of thanks with the varsity.

Lori Gieger, Melissa Hickey, and Lea Whitehead keep the energy level up for our weekly pep rally.

Top to Bottom: Stacy Fub, Jennifer Patron, Denisha Salinas, Debbie Ramirez, and Head Cheerleader—Lea Whitehead.

Ann De Russe, Melissa Hickey, and Patty De La Garza show why our rooting sections have been so successful this year.
J.V. cheerleaders never lose their spirit

Cynthia Trevino and Lee Whitehead never stand still at a game.

Don't say our cheerleaders don't enjoy their work.

Go team, go. Victory, victory victory.

Top to Bottom: Parry De La Garza, Melissa Hickey, Denise Lamb, Ann De Ruze, and Head Cheerleader—Cynthia Trevino.
The Pep squad is one group of girls that give their all each day of every week of the football season so that Trojan spirit stays alive. Mrs. Nance guides the girls through their routines and sees to it that each girl maintains her grade point average and that each girl has maintained good citizenship throughout the year. The girls have pride and see to it that all students maintain their pride in A.C. Jones.

The Pep Squad has the difficult job of keeping alive the spirit during the rallies and during the games. They must always show top spirit regardless of the outcome that week. The rallies and the gallery in the stands will respond to the efforts of the Pep Squad. If they are down, the gallery will be down. The Pep Squad is very important to our school spirit and they helped a great deal to bring the mighty Trojans to victory this year.
Pep squad adds color to Western Week

Our rallies are never boring because the pep girls give it their all each and every week.

Mary Jane Gomez leads the gallery in an active, spirited yell to fire up the student body for the Robstown game.
Music in the air fills audiences with wonder.

Our foreign student, Christina Markland, sings a solo during an assembly for students.

Mr. Zedicky, choir director, emphasizes a musical point during rehearsals.

Our Balladiers sing out with ballads, up tunes and jazz to the complete enjoyment of the spectators.

The choral choir gives out with their best efforts.

The girls choir was happy with the awards picked up by Ronnie Bisset and Rhonda Blanton.
It's modern jazz for our stageband

Margaret Beltran gives out with a jazz solo on his tenor sax.

Mr. Cason keeps up his energy level with a sweet role prior to his directing activities.

Hamp Brockman gives out with the kind of music that got him to the state level.
Trojanettes inspire spirit and pride

Eight firsts awarded to Drill Team

Under the direction of Mrs. Barbara Nance and Dorothy Olivares, the Trojanettes have given the students of A. C. Jones a rebirth of spirit. They have helped to build the fire under the spectators at pep rallies and at sports events which helped our varsity win their first district championship in forty-seven years.

They have been a very active group during the year. At the five day camp in San Marcos, the Trojanettes picked up eight first place ribbons. Linda Alaniz was awarded the All Star Drill Team Medal and the girls also picked up a 1st place ribbon.

In the Western Week parade the Trojanettes were given a 1st place for their officer competition and a third place for squad competition.

The Trojanettes also performed for the F.T.A. Convention and in the region competition.
HERO sponsors the Trojan Table

The HERO club was an active organization this last year. They sponsored the Trojan Table for other classes and served the Chamber of Commerce Board of Directors annual dinner.

The members also serve at various times the Vocational Advisory Council, teachers and CVAE students.

HERO members entered the homemaking division of the Junior Livestock and Homemakers Show and picked up several ribbons for their efforts.

HERO also held a Christmas party and swimming party and cooked a supper for the end of the year activity. The members also served refreshments for Open House and for Public Schools Week.

Rita Gilmore reviews a recipe while Irma Rivas explains the cooking procedure.
It's rodeo time for the Circle B Riders

Our Western Week Queen and court wave fond greetings to the bystanders. Valene Creach, Cathy Tom and Cara Porter look every part a Queen.

The primary purpose of the Circle B club is to support rodeo activities. Each week the club members hold their own rodeo and practice for competition.

G. Hester served as Circle B President with Boomer Schauer as Vice-President and C. Maley as treasurer. Palido served as Sgt.-At-Arms.

FFA completes their fiftieth year on campus

State FFA President addresses an FFA Assembly with Sue Broussard awaiting her turn to address the group.

Sue Broussard points out the FFA program and introduces the speaker of the day.

The A.C. Jones FFA charter was awarded in 1931 which makes our organization over fifty years old. It was won many honors and awards during that time and has proven to be an asset to the students who have had the opportunity to have been fortunate enough to have gone through the program.

We have set aside a special section for our vocational program to honor the fifty years. We hope you enjoy the presentation.
FTA remains an active organization

The Future Teachers of America campaigns for new members during September of each year. The organization also has several social activities each year, including an end of the year banquet which is attended by state dignitaries and faculty members along with the A.C. Jones Administration.

The Teacher of the Month appellation is given each month by the F.T.A. to the most rewarding teacher for that month as designated by the members of the organization. The winner is announced over the school public address system. The teacher is presented with a large apple and has their picture taken for public release.

The F.T.A. sponsors three sales each year and maintains the concession stand at the football and basketball games. There is also a Valentine carnation sale and a sale designated to promote school spirit. Members also attend a statewide leadership conference which was held at A.C. Jones this year.
Drama and Speech maintain a tight schedule

If you feel like projecting your personality and being someone you are not, then the drama and speech department is for you, as it has been for so many students this past year. The drama and speech program has increased steadily over the past three years with the fine efforts and dedication of Ms. Vicki Hoff.

The program gives experience in speech preparation, in speech competition, and in research. Students in drama also get to read the boards in some fine production. The big production this year was "Where The Lillies Bloom." Students also participated in 1 act play contests and in district competition.
47 years to bring home the bacon!!!

The last time there was joy in Beeville was in the fall of 1944, 47 years ago. That was the last time a Trojan team won a district championship.

This year the Trojans went for all the marbles and won the District Championship and the Bi-District Championship with scores of 27-0 over Robstown to clinch the district title and a score of 21-13 over Brown Pace to pick up the Bi-District marbles. An 18-7 loss to Willetridge stopped the Trojans at the quarterfinals.

The season started with the Trojan eleven at 9-1, losing only to C. C. King, a non-district game. The season was enhanced when our mighty Trojans defeated the once mighty Gregory Portland eleven 35-27.

Volleyball squads rough it out

It was a long and hard year for the girls' volleyball teams. They drove hard all year and came along as was expected. Coach Keelan gave her all during her first year start as coach and, as usual, Mrs. Boswick brought her girls into each battle eager to win and give their all for the Trojan legacy.
What a year for the sports banquet!

The annual sports banquet is always an enjoyable affair but this year it was a triumphant affair. Our varsity walked away with a district championship, a sound defeat of Gregory-Portland and a bi-district championship over Brownsville-Pace.

Our junior varsity and our freshman teams only lost one game in their schedule, also having a fine year. Our varsity squad walked away with district and sectional first and honorable team mementos.

Administration urges pride and self-image

Board of Education strives to achieve educational goals

The Board of Education is an interested and conscientious group of men and women who are willing to spend many hours attending to our school's welfare. It is because of their willingness to give up their own time in serving the community that each year something is either improved upon or added to our school. This year brought us a new science wing, a new library, a new teachers' lounge and a contract for air-conditioning.
Principals back assertive discipline plan

Mr. Boyer is caught in one of his very rare moments of freedom. His desk gives evidence of several hours of work ahead.

Our director of vocational education, Mr. McKay, turns over a daily report to Diana DeLaGarza for processing.

Mr. Tom’s secretary, Laura Standlee, gets instructions from our vice principal on daily reports.

Mr. McAulay prepares his daily attendance report before calling in recalcitrant students for counseling.

This year began the new assertive discipline plan which was backed by the school administration. It has proved to be very successful in many areas. Mr. Boyer and Mr. Tom have given full support to the various contracts developed and have followed through to maintain the proper educational environment in the classroom.

The administration has also provided the students with reward assemblies which have been enjoyed by all the students. Mr. Boyer has also provided positive consequences by personally writing letters home to student’s parents regarding the behavior of their sons and daughters.
English department provides for better communications

This year saw the completion of the five year plan set up by the department to meet state standards. It has proved to be successful, said the English department chairperson, Mrs. Peggy McCampbell. Each level, freshman, sophomore, junior and senior, were subjected to specific areas. The junior class, for instance, emphasized the sentence. The conceptual idea was that with particular emphasis the students would graduate with a serious background in the writing skills. The completion of the five year plan met all expectations reported several department members.
Five year plan completed

This last year the five year plan for the English department was completed. It covered all elements of writing from punctuation to the finished paragraph. Each level, freshman, sophomore, junior and senior, had a specific unit of study which was built into a sequential program. Pre and post tests were given with each unit of study to be used as an analysis for future programming and for judging the success of each unit. It has been judged as having been a successful course of study.

Students 'Go Abroad' in foreign language studies

The primary emphasis in Spanish is to teach as second language along with the understanding of the second culture. This broadens the students knowledge and attitudes towards life. This year Mrs. Perez and Mr. Garza stressed the importance of immersing one’s self in the Spanish culture. Students were urged to listen to the radio and to T.V. and to read magazines and books. The students soon found that Spanish is a gentle language filled with music and emotion.
Social Science prepares students for better understanding of our world

Social Studies teachers take the task of teaching their students about their world and the history around it seriously. They have spent many hours preparing lecture notes, developing audio-visual presentations, and working out counseling hours for students that may need assistance.
Commercial program sets youth up for future

Commercial instructors seldom get the true recognition they deserve since we are so concerned with "a return to basics" that we forget that it is the commercial courses that prepare the student for a job related program. It is a program that brings money to the individual in the future, whether he be going to college or directly into the labor market.

Mr. Jeanes was given an assistant this year to help him maintain a solid program for the special education classes. Mr. Simmon has worked hard under the direction of Mr. Jeanes to give our special students a fine program and a jump on life.

Mathematics prepares students for careers of the future

With the emphasis upon a return to basics, the math department has put a stress on the need to know the essentials of mathematics. Workshops were held with teachers to bring them up to date with what is new in the market place. The department has also been looking into the area of computers and how it may be effectively used to broaden the math offerings and its effect on programming tests and problems.

Business courses prepare students for future jobs

In homemaking the students were given a new microwave for instructional purposes. The microwave provided for lessons in new recipes and new cooking techniques.

Woodworking classes were given a new planter which helped the students to prepare their rough materials.

Drafting was taught this year by Mr. Clopton, an instructor who came from the junior high with many fine ideas.

Office duplication added to their production schedule the magazine VIEWS which was produced by the vocational English classes.
Preparation of future scientists is goal of Science department

A renaissance is in progress in the science department. They have shifted from a one year program of freshman physical science and instituted a one semester biology course and a one semester physical science course with Biology I being offered to sophomores, where units in cellular biology (cytology) are being offered. Separated lab periods were eliminated. Where students were given five lecture periods a week and two lab periods, students are now given three periods of lecture and two lab periods. It has been a year of progress for our future scientists.
Class officers give freely of their time

When a student elects his class officer, little realizes the responsibilities that he places on the shoulder of the elected officer.

The class officers are called upon to make many, many decisions affecting the class as a whole. What band shall we get so that our dance will be the best? What theme will really draw attention and carry our thoughts and feelings with it? How and when can we get everyone to help the class raise money so badly needed for the operation of the class? These and many more decisions are left up to the class officers. Be thankful you selected the right officers this year.

Senior class officers: Rhonda Blanton, President; Ysias Guerrero, Vice-President; Yvette Orea, Secretary; Leslie Dalton, Treasurer; and Larry Andrade, Reporter.

Western Week dominated by Trojan women

It was a Trojan victory for our Trojan women at the Western Week celebrations. Four of our lovelies came through with all four places relating to the Queen and her court.

Cathy Tom was selected as Western Week Queen with first runner up being Malia Koenning. Kara Porter picked up a third place and fourth place went to Becky Boyer. Miss Tom received Roses and a trophy. All runner ups also received trophies.

The judges came from several areas in South Texas. San Antonio, Corpus Christi, Houston, George West sent judges.

The candidates were judged on poise, stage personality and appearance. Our Trojan girls had what it takes to walk away with the rewards.

QUEEN OF WESTERN WEEK: Cathy Tom

Western Girl: Valerie Coeche
Girl in white: Kara Porter
Parade Beauty: Becky Boyer
Students thrilled with Western Week activities

VOE officers enjoy the Western Week parade as they warm up the Beeville crowd with their ray-of-sunshine smiles.

Stacy Fish and her companions cheer up the crowd with their charm and grace.

Lydia Chapa and Kathy Stewart kick it up for the Beeville crowd during the VICA section contribution.
Out of the ashes, as did the Phoenix, the Trojan rose to live through another cycle.
Trojans lead an exciting life

Sandra San Miguel, Thomas Busbee, Angela Flores, Arlene Bautista, Larry Andrade, and Judy Andrade rooting for our Rockport Victory.

Denise Lamb congratulates J. J. Robinson on his offensive scoring against Sinton.

Julie Chapman gets the spectators to give their all to support the mighty Trojans.

Lori Grier, Eva Dominguez, Laura Shears, and Nancy Butler are one happy gang after the Trojans declared Bi-District Champs.
Mr. Boyer initiates reward assemblies

There was a renaissance of entertainment this last year as Mr. Boyer initiated the reward assembly as a positive incentive under the assertive discipline plan.

The first such assembly was the Time assembly which programmed the idea that our youth today is under going a self-searching process. It was an avant garde look at today’s youth.

We had a very pleasant Thanksgiving assembly with music by the band and choir and the balladiers. It was an inspirational program.

Students were presented the David Stockwell program, “One Nation Under God.” That evening Mr. Stockwell also gave a Pizza Party and presented his religious rally.

Another spring entertainment assembly, sponsored by Campel Productions, was also presented. The annual awards assembly gave the entire student body a chance to see who our academic students were.

The assembly programs were a key to the development of pride in the student body.
Variety is the key to our assemblies

Brian Smjekal, Malia Koenning, Dane Fish, Christina (A.F.S. Student) and Ron Bisser thrill the audiences with their ballad renditions.

Margaret Antonine, Larry Andrade and Heath Livers await their turn to turn on the audience with their sax sonority.

Hamp Brokman goes through his jazz practice as he prepares for the regional contest.

Steve Evans struts to the stage as Mr. Stockwell calls for his assistance.
Counselors advise students on personal problems

Mr. Wingenter urges a student to enter his office for a guidance session.

Mr. Lynam works over the grading sheets and checks out his counsellees.

No wonder our students love our counselors. The charming, smiling group above would make anyone feel confident. Mr. Wingentor, Mrs. Claudia Nelson, and Mr. Lynam show how much they enjoy their positions.

Thanks to the counselors our students are given the best advice available because our counselors keep up with the latest available guidance and testing information. They spend many hours of their own time in searching out pertinent data. They also run effective programs prior to testing and signing up for fall programs.

Secretaries are constantly battling a never ending pile of paper work. They are always facing deadlines. They are always “up front” and facing the problems of the business routine, the counseling deadlines, and the attendance routines.

Every organization has a foundation that holds up the entire structure. In education it is the secretaries. Without our ladies of the typewriter there would be a tie-up and a slow down of all activities. They keep things moving along smoothly. Thank you ladies.

Ms. Rosanne Delapin, Mr. Ham’s secretary, discusses payroll problems with Maggie Garcia, accounts payable.
Secretaries battle never ending paper work

Mrs. Pat Herzog trains Patty the daily routine of the principal's office.

Mrs. Carol Sc ott, bookkeeping clerk, checks over the month's figures.

Mrs. Sandra Gorgosczyk, attendance clerk, explains to her assistants how to check the teacher's attendance sheets.

Ms. Diana Salazar, payroll clerk, checks the latest figures by phone.

Mrs. Peggy Kelly, superintendent's secretary, checks out figures for Mr. Reynolds. Mrs. Barbara Masey, accounts payable, checks out her latest report before submitting them to Mr. Ham's office.

Mrs. Francis Leach and Mrs. Ruth Kircher, counselor's secretaries, show why they are making the office such a pleasant place to visit.

Mary Call asks, but Miss Breathet (Malia Koenning), "Why?"

Yrias Guerrero, Mr. Connell, confronts Mary Call, played by Terri Basinger.

"Mrs. Connell, you didn't need to tell us. We will be fine."
Audiences at Where The Lillies Bloom

Where The Lillies Bloom was presented on Friday and Saturday evenings, December 11 and December 12 with a school presentation on Monday, December 14. It was well received by all audiences. The gate was somewhat hampered by a local dance on Friday night and the sports banquet on Saturday evening. However, the cast played to appreciative audiences at all performances.

Outstanding performances were given by Terri Basinger as Mary Call and Devola played by Patti Pawlik. An interesting performance was also given by Mia Koennings as Miss Breathitt. Excellent performances were also given by the entire cast.

(Mary Ann Cano) Mr. Connell packs the groceries.

Ima Dean (Mary Stafford), Hami Brockman (Romney), Devola (Patti Pawlik) wonder what's going on in the house, while Mr. Connell searches the skies.

Mary Call (Terri Basinger) tries to keep Mr. Connell from contacting her father.
Cafeteria workers keep the meals flowing

The ladies of the kitchen welcomed all the staff and students each day with grins and pleasant remarks. Often they were under pressure, hot, tired and worn-out. Yet they managed to make our daily lunches a pleasant affair.

Ms. Pat Hines and Mrs. Candy Saldiver get things set for the lunch crowd.

Ms. Ouida Nowlin holds down the fort as cafeteria secretary which includes repairing the adding machine.

Mrs. Dolores Aleman brushes on hot butter for those sweet, delicious, hot rolls so many students love.

Mrs. Inez Trevino, manager of our cafeteria, prepares a delicious repast for the luncheon.

People who are always around us and who are always doing their job are often underrated and overlooked in the everyday activities. Such is the case of our cafeteria workers.

Each day the cafeteria staff comes to work and goes about their job, unheralded and often unappreciated. However, we neglect to notice that each day we are met with a hot luncheon, attractively prepared, and sincerely offered.
All too often we forget about the importance of our custodial staff. Without the daily efforts of the men and women of our maintenance crew, the school plant, the offices, and the classrooms would look like "Grant took Richmond."

Arturo, Yolanda, Kathy, Jimmy, Rudy and all the other fine staff and crew take pride in their efforts and it is evident when we look around the campus. If any staff member is in trouble, they look for the custodian. If a room needs maintenance for a "quick fix," the first person called is the custodian. If someone gets sick, who cleans up the mess. That's right. The custodial staff is called upon to make it all right.

We can always find a smile and a bit of good cheer when we talk to Yolanda, Arthur or Rudy. They are always there with a smile and a word of encouragement.

Golfers tee-up for ten tournaments

Coach Sammy Smith tends to hold for one of his putters.

Flint Britton takes time to judge his putt.

Michael Scotten can't believe he missed a putt.

Coach Smith felt it was a fine year for his golfers who he rates as one of the top three area teams. They took place in ten tournaments during the year—Victoria, Corpus Christi, Kingsville, Sinton, Kennedy, Rockport, Goliad, Refugio and Port Lavaca—scoring well in each. The boys also took part in the Padre Island Tournament and the Beeville tourney at the country club.
Weather proves to be an aid for golfers

John Gayle stands firm after his successful putt.

John Bocquet wishes his ball toward the hole.

Scott Bond misses by inches his putt.

Michael Scotten comes up short.

James Pittman was a little too nervous on his putt.

Flint Britton takes care before putting.
Art club provides for individual expression

To the right you see a picture of the curator of the Art Museum giving an art lecture to students of the art club. It is one of the main activities that keep the students alert to the art world and to the new art techniques being developed.

The art club takes advantage of all activities that help to bring them along as artists which include trips to museums and to private showings.

Members of the art club display their work in various shows, at local banks and merchants stores. The students also place their work on display in the school library and at various focal points around the school.

Our staff enjoys working with students

Ms. Keelan answers questions from her students concerning scientific theories.

Mrs. Perez enjoys working with Bill Gobel on his Spanish assignments.

Mr. Perez shows one of his students how to use one of his scientific toys.

Johanna McFarland plays for Mr. Knowlton who selects the stage band.

It was once said that teaching consists of two people sitting at either end of a log—a student and a teacher. Such, still holds true.

Teachers who relate on a one-to-one basis are often the most successful. It also helps to enjoy the job and to love students. Our staff has proven they possess both qualities.
This year's doors extremely creative

Joe Henry Perez's Room 304 at A.C. Jones High School took top honors in the subject-related category of the annual door decorating contest sponsored each Christmas by the high school Student Council. Second place honors went to students in Peggy McCampbell's Room 110, and Gay Glenn's Room 213 won third.

Top honors in the religious category of the A.C. Jones High School Student Council's door decorating contest was won by Liz McGowan's Room 105. Second place went to Bennie Pelew's Room 306, and third was won by Cleon Pittman's construction lab. The contest is sponsored each Christmas by the council.

Mrs. Pittman's class stayed with the subject.

A math theme was the subject for Mrs. Gay's.
Variety is key to door decorations

The counselor's office greeted all the staff and students with their door message.

Froxy The Snowman acted as doorman for Mrs. Kubenka's class during the Christmas season.

The Pink Panther walks again during the holidays for the attendance office.

Home Family Life room kept the traditional spirit during the holidays.

Santa Class greeted all English Department personnel during the holidays.

Santa cooked up a fine meal for Mrs. Hickman's typing classes.

Students in Miss Jean Dugat's Room 112 put together the best all-around door for the A.C. Jones High School Student Council door decorating contest this holiday season. A traditional theme of "God Bless Us Everyone" was portrayed.

Students in Joy Bates home economics class decorated the top door in the humorous category of the Christmas door decorating contest at A.C. Jones High School this year. Their theme was a hep Santa and the saying, "You gotta chime with the time." Second place went to Julie Dolezal's Room 50 and third place was garnered by Catherine Kubenka's Room 109.

Lori Gieger and Laura Shears set up the crowd for an outstanding yell during the Simon game.

Mrs. McGowan checks out her next English assignment as she takes on her hall duties as lunch monitor.

Robin Eked takes time for a momentary break during her study schedule at the library.

A. C. Jones is often referred to as a small community. As a small community, it has all the variety found in a small community. We have sports events, musical events, and dramatic events. We have those with us who wish to defy the law and the majority, as in any community, who follow the rules and regulations of our society. We play and we study. We prepare for the life ahead.

Laura Shears analyzes her essay after a writing discussion.
Our students lead a balanced life. There is always time for play and for study. There is also time for students to learn how to get along in the work-a-day world with such courses as our co-op ventures. Growth takes place each day for our students and for our staff. They have grown physically, spiritually and intellectually.

Nancy Butler and Lorie Gieger yell, "Victory! Victory!" is our cry.

A little bit of effort brings result in every class.

Yolanda Tapia is busy checking the attendants records.

Norma Gonzales makes that last minute drive through her locker.

Erma Rodriguez checks over her typing test and locates her words per minute average.

Yrias Guerrero types up the latest report on her pep rally activities.

This has been an active year for our football teams. The freshmen teams and the junior varsity had 9-1 seasons which proved to be an omen for our senior varsity who walked away with the district championship and the bi-district honors. Our basketball squads also had a commendable season as did the volleyball squads.
Jennie, Julie Chapman and Yvette Onze, varsity cheerleaders, support the hard driving Trojans to victory.

Mrs. Rose kisses the pig as her debt for winning the most popular teacher contest for the Brownsville rally.

Trojans show what they are.

Our music department has not been lax this year. The band has displayed their abilities at many a public function and picked up a #2 rating in district competition. Our choir also upheld their end by giving many fine musical renditions in public performances. The Balladiers made many an audience happy this year with their fine performances.

The pep rally for Robstown game draws community support.
This was certainly a year for the student council. They have been kept extremely busy with many activities such as poster parties, visiting hospitals, assisting at teacher workshops, and assisting in hosting district competitions. They have held car washes, painted downtown for spirit week and hosted council area workshops with much success.
Joe Smith takes a quick check at the defensive line of Robstown.

James Lacey completes his study assignment for math.

The year of renaissance set a more structured pace, yet allowed for a liberal attitude. The year was a time to play and to forget about what tomorrow may bring.

But as we look back in the reflections in our minds, we see that all things are not perfect. A.C. Jones will live on and the year of rebirth is only the beginning.

It's a busy day for freshmen in their English class, but they show they can handle the assignment.

Our students enjoy doing their math assignments on the board.
This year A. C. Jones was blessed with a migrant tutor, Mrs. Fina Perez, who helped to develop the intellectual curiosities of the coordinated vocational English and math programs. It was a rebirth of our program and a much needed addition. Through her help, students were led to a renaissance of effort.

Mrs. Madeline Burge came aboard as a math aide. She brought her ability to cope with stress and to develop students desire to work a problem through to the conclusion. She was an asset to the math department.

The Trojan battle schedule lets no one doubt who are the champions. After the Robinson victory is a long congo line of happy band members and cheerleaders.

Mr. McGowan appears to have confused Angie Lee.

Binoculars always bring the play into sharp focus.
This has been a year for many new additions to the A. C. Jones facilities. We opened a new science wing, a new library, and a new teacher's conference room. There is a new construction building and a new homemaking room. The band also purchased new band uniforms. The drama and speech department moved to the auditorium and the choir was given a new room in the new band building.

Beverly Beasley is pleased with her latest layout.

The freshman team show why they only lost one game during the season.

Susan Broussard displays the spirit that brought the Trojans a District Championship.

Christina Marklund, our AFS student from Sweden, takes part in a pep rally for the Sitton game which is a new treat for her.
This year the library was the scene of a daily full house as students flooded to the new facilities to take advantage of the air-conditioning and of the many new additions. A new feature was the electronic eye which kept tabs on any possible stolen books. The a.v. units were very popular as was the seminar study section. Many new book and magazine additions made the library a popular place for rest, relaxation and study.

Jill Guevara is "gonna fly now" in the true spirit of a Trojan.

Danny Mahoney doesn't monkey around. Ouch!

Ken Chong proudly portrays a Trojan.

Mr. McCauley is pleased with the attendance report.
Josephine Del Bosque, Dane Fish, Bobby Galle, concentrate on a test in Mr. Jordan's American History class.

James Morel works overtime on designing layout for the Trojan.

Mrs. Boswick shows her concern during a pressing moment in volleyball play.
Mr. David Stockwell answers questions given him by the student body after his assembly presentation.

Coach Powell looks on as Coach Jacobson gives Jamie Trevino his instructions for linebacker play.

Below: Sometimes it's rough playing volleyball.
Mr. David Stockwell works out a skit with Steve Evans, Carlos Romero, J. J. Robinson, Steve Orchard.

Our student body knows how to keep it cool.

Ray Monos and Ray Villarreal work out an English presentation for Mrs. McGowan's class.
Eveonne Langham knows she cooed her latest examination.

Lee Farias and Grant Allison enjoy their role as ice breakers.
Stacy Fish and friends take a breather during a time out from Siscon play.
Reagan Jordan checks out his equipment before taking the plunge.

Coach Keilen works out with the cheerleaders and gives them some pointers on technique.
Steve Evans, Trojan senior, displays the concentration of a winner.

Beeville Chapter F. F. A. Gold Key Club

Vocational education at A.C. Jones has really expanded since the 1931 beginning, 50 years ago. We have vocational office education, homemaking and family living, cooperative agriculture and vocational agriculture. We offer general mechanics, distributive education and construction trades. In addition, the vocational educational program offers a complete office duplication and printing program. A.C. Jones also has a fine woodworking program and an excellent drafting program. There is much that can capture the imagination of the student who is looking for a vocation.

The Area Vocational school, which is part of A.C. Jones High School, began in September, 1907, in a new building designed specifically for this purpose. There were ten departments with an enrollment of 512 students out of a total enrollment of 1,014. During the current school year we had 808 vocational students for a 68% enrollment of the total student body and 137, or 126, enrolled in co-op. The total student enrollment was 1177.
Fifty years of continuous growth

The local chapter of FFA was organized in 1931 with B.C. Davis, head of the Agricultural Department of Beeville high school, as adviser. In the first year no member was eligible to compete for Gold Keys. At the close of the second year, however, three state keys were awarded to William Brown, William Cude and Louie Turner. William Cude was made a Lone Star Farmer.

In the third year Julian Rader and Gus Dunn were honored with Gold Keys. The chapter also received its first American key award, awarded to William Cude.

The original departments included Vocational Agricultural, Voc Ag Co-op Training, Distributive Education, Vocational Office Education, I.C.T., Homemaking (3 units), and Auto Mechanics. A thorough needs study was made and presented to the board of education and the Texas Education Agency. Coordinated Voc Ed, Academic Ed, Co-op training, Vocational Counselor, Occupational Orientation and Office Duplication were the additional programs requested.
Changes have taken place in vocational ed

Philosophy

The Vocational Department offers a comprehensive curriculum designed to:

1. Prepare students for gainful employment as semi-skilled or skilled workers in recognized occupations and in new emerging occupations.

2. Prepare students with the necessary prerequisites to undertake additional educational pursuits.

3. Develop in the students a sense of dignity, honesty and self-respect.

Goals and Objectives

The Vocational Department should help each student to develop personal knowledge, skills, and competence to maximum capacity, and to learn behavior patterns which will make each student a responsible member of society.

All vocational students will achieve:

1. Knowledge of the fundamental economic structure and processes of the American system.

2. Occupational skills to enter and advance in the economic functions and or academic preparation for postsecondary education.

3. Competence in the application of economic knowledge to practical economic functions such as planning and budgeting.

4. Knowledge about the requirements of nutritional consumption and maintenance of personal health.

5. Knowledge about the dangers to health from addiction to harmful practices or consumption of harmful materials.

6. Skill in interpersonal and group relations and in formation of ethical behavior.
It's been building, building all the way

The progress of the Vocational Department at A.C. Jones High School has been made possible by the interest and good judgment displayed by the school board and the administration of the B.I.S.D. Growth of the program has been the result of the interest in the community, and the improvement in the quality of the program has been the result of the combination of the school and community effort.

The community supports co-op students in the areas of Distributive Education, Industrial Cooperative Training, Vocational Office Education, Cooperative Agriculture and CVAE Cooperative Training. The benefits are two-fold, in that they place the student in learning and training situations and also fill a real need in the community in supplying student-workers who have special skills.

Advisory Committees have been formed each year in each of the vocational fields from among the business persons in the community who are interested in that particular area. After graduation a person-to-person follow-up is continued between the teachers and the students.
Skills learned today pay off tomorrow

The woodshop was an active place in 1967 just as it is today, 1982. Skills that will pay off in the future are learned.

Learning on a small scale can be duplicated on a large scale. All skills can be held on deposit for withdrawal at a later date.

Over the years the construction trades has paid off for many students. Many have gone on to build homes, to work in construction, to work as designers and to take it home with them as an avocation which helped to enrich their daily lives. Nothing was lost in the learning process. As they say proof is in the eating, and the program has steadily increased in enrollment since its beginning back in 1931.
Homemaking has changed over the years

Mrs. Joy Biers, instructor in family life and homemaking, instructs Pat Rodrigues in sewing a slip cover.

It used to be the domain for the young girl who was preparing for marriage. She was taught the niceties of homemaking—sewing, setting a table, preparing the meals. Today all that has changed on the homemaking scene.

Homemaking and family life has taken on a new dimension. Students are taught diet, shopping skills, buying tips, health information and marriage counseling, as well as the traditional homemaking chores.

Family life is a complicated process in today's world and the instructors at A.C. Jones keep up with all the modern trends in style, in marriage counseling and in new tips on marketing. The student who leaves Homemaking today is a well trained, informed person.

Leticia Amador follows a McCall pattern for a modern dress style, which explains why our girls are always fashionable.

Michael Guerrero and Tony Zamaer will be able to "bush" after they learn the skills in homemaking for the single.
Mrs. Roberts shows by example how to prepare chicken. Mary Guerrero seems to enjoy the experience.

Counselor Cano takes the butter to prepare a batch of cookies in Mrs. Roberts homemaking lab.

Always on the lookout for what is modern and up-to-date the members of the instructional staff of the homemaking department finally purchased a new microwave oven, a much needed addition if one is to keep up with today's styles in cooking.

Since so much of our cooking today is done with the microwave, it was essential for the students to have experience with the new method of cooking. It is a whole new technique cooking with a microwave oven. New recipes have to be learned. New cooking techniques have to be mastered. It is the day of the microwave. Our students will have had the experience.
Woodmaking planes along smoothly

Danny Fernando and Raul Ramon await their turns at turning out a professionally built product.

This year a new wrinkle was added to the woodworking program under the leadership of Walter Wright. In Wood II each student had to make something which had a drawer.

A new Rockwell planer was added to the shop's facilities. This will greatly aid the students in turning out a professional piece of merchandise.

Exporatory activities and basic furniture and bookcase production filled the Woodworking I program. The primary emphasis of the woodworking program is to develop a sound avocational base for students increased leisure time in the future.

This is not to say that the vocational interests are not given consideration. As always those who wish to pursue a career in woodworking can pick up the basic skills necessary to carry them forward in the work-a-day world. No student walks away from the program lacking the essentials if he really desires to develop his abilities.
SHOP TRAINING covers all the bases

Richard Saucedo adjusts the Rockwell planer, newly acquired by the program, to fit his requirements.

Robert Garcia will make sure his surface is perfect before continuing on his project.

It used to be the practice that all you did in woodworking was to square a piece of wood, make a bread board and, if you were lucky, make a knick-knack shelf. It is different in today’s program.

It is true that you still square lumber and build a breadboard, but the emphasis now is on developing the skills necessary to enjoy woodworking as a leisure time activity since so many of today’s men pursue a woodworking hobby. It is getting cheaper and cheaper to equip one’s own basement with a fine workshop.

The addition this year of knowing how to make a unit with a drawer adds important skills to the already mainstream of woodworking activities.
Construction trades learn by doing

The construction trades offered by A.C. Jones Vocational Department is a two hour class in which the students learn all the basics of construction—electricity, design, concrete pouring, framing, and the safety rules pertaining to the use of machinery and the laying out of electrical circuits.

Much of the work and instruction can be carried over into everyday life, saving the individual dollars as he "does it himself" in the future.

The course is also a fine program for those who wish to pursue the construction trades as a vocation. The students learn all the basics and can carry it with them in co-op programs or in allied construction work.

Emirino Arroyo shapes up the foundation as Cuervas and Gonzales check out the guide lines prior to pouring concrete. As part of the construction trades class instructed by Mr. Pittman, the students are learning how to set up an area for concrete foundations which will form the setting for the new oak trees to be planted in the area.
You get nowhere unless someone designs it

A serious student studies in earnest his drafting layout to make sure it meets all specifications.

It proves that if you enjoy your work, the layout is not too difficult to layout.

An engineer, a construction worker, a handyman, or an architect can do nothing unless he works from a set of plans.

Not to be caught short in curriculum development, our vocational department has seen to it that we have a fine drafting program under way under the leadership of Mr. Clopton.

All the basics are covered in the program. Students learn how to draw from different perspectives. They learn how to design plans for tools, machinery and architectural plans.

Again the program tries to cover all the areas which will prepare the student for further training or post-secondary education.
This is where it is at! On the job!

Mr. Frank Moron, instructor in Marketing and Distributive Education, discusses jobs and job requirements with Angie Lee.

Mike Willis, Trojan editor, picks up some on the job experience as bag boy at Stanleys market. Also working at the same store is Angie Lee, another Trojan staff member. Gabe Martinez finds clerking to his liking and likes the on the job training.

It is extremely difficult to get a job if a person has had no experience. This is the primary purpose of Mr. Moron’s program. It provides the opportunity, the experience and the education so that a student can leave A.C. Jones with some practical, as well as academic training.

The students must maintain a high degree of proficiency or else they are dropped from the program. They must maintain high personal qualities of honesty, self-discipline and grooming. They must be a credit to A.C. Jones and to themselves.
One must go beyond role playing
An essential training offering

In a society plagued with high inflation, high interest rates, and the high cost of buying an automobile, one needs to know the basics of automobile repair. It is no longer a program for future auto mechanics. If anyone wants to save on expensive repairs, an auto mechanic course will prove more valuable than the time invested.

It is no longer the domain of grease monkeys. Auto shop is for both sexes, especially for girls who are entering marriage at a later time in life.

Our shop has all the facilities and the expertise of Mr. Beck to give all students all the knowledge they are willing to obtain. Check it out. It may prove helpful in the future.

Let's hope this will not be a portent of the future for Henry Toralva. It's great training and experience, however.
It pays to know what is under that hood

Today our shop hasn't changed too much which proves how excellent the original design was.

Jose Keller checks on the tuning for an auto shop client.

Work on those spark plugs and you may have a saving on gas dollars.

All pages were printed on 80 lb. dull coated enamel paper. Body type was set in 10 point Garamond type. All headlines were done in 36 point Garamond.

The cover was a special design thermo screened.

Newsfoto printed 700 copies of volume 51 which were distributed on May 10, 1982.
Varsity fights through a dreary season

Coach McCampbell took his charges through a rough season with the true spirit of the Trojan. He and his varsity fought back in the second half to show they were far from out of the fight.

The first five games were victories. This put a bunt on the adversaries. It also brought back the spirit to the teams and fans alike. The second half record was 6 wins and 3 losses. A fine comeback for the Trojan varsity.

Varsity wins in losing

Joe Smith just misses the tip off as Bobba Lewis awaits his action.

Everyone is tense on the tip offs and everyone waits his turn to get into the action.

It was a rough season for our varsity five. Each team faces its schedule with varying success. To each comes the day of frustration and this was the year for our varsity. But through it all they gave their best efforts and won in their losses.

The hot dog syndrome set in early in the season and was partly responsible for some losses, but the team spirit took over and our varsity came up with a good second half.

The second half was a different story with five wins in the first five games. The season ended with a 7-5 record, which is a winning season. Not bad for our varsity. True to the Trojan spirit.
Junior Varsity has its ups and downs

Billy Halcomb dribbles past his defense as Alex May gets ready to defend.

It only looks like a mix-up but our Trojans are ready to take advantage of the play.

Second Half: Won 4 Lost 4
Season: Won 14 Lost 11

Coach: Danny Silva

John Contreras eyes his opposition and is careful on his approach to the boards.

The J.V.'s finished with a 14-11 season record. The season victories came about because the team played as a unified whole.

Coach Silva brought the team into the win columns through his efforts to get the "5" to pull together. It paid off, giving him a winning season.
Freshmen picked up a district title

Randy Clausen, coach, and his young team picked up a prize in the District 15-4A crown. The Trojan frosh whipped West Oso 56-48 to end their campaign with a perfect 21-0 season record.

The frosh wound up with a 16-0 record in district play. Coach Powell stated, "They are a great class of athletes with a real outstanding attitude, which has a big part to do with their success."

Nothing like competition, especially tournaments

Individual sports are difficult because they challenge the individual to come up to his potential. Tennis is an excellent example. Each match must bring out the best in the individual or it is finale time.

Our team came up to its best this year. Many times the contestants were counted down and out but came back to meet another opponent. Many times the individual found himself, or herself, in the quarter finals, or better.

In double play its cooperation that counts and confidence in your partner.

A strong forehand always helps to make an opponent edgy. Lori Groves shows the proper form.

David Mendez puts his best foot forward in a strong delivery.
Red Heart Week exciting relief

Red Heart Week, sponsored by the student council, was busy, exciting and successful. Variety was the key for the week. Staff and students were treated to a variety of unexpected events. Each day all were treated to the unknown.

Computer matching opened the week. It was a "first" for the school personnel. Students were given a sheet to fill out with their interests which were computer matched. It proved to be very "revealing". Many surprises occurred.

A happy event was the rest home visitation. Council members learned that giving of yourself is rewarding.

The choir, hidden to assure anonymity, sing the telegram of love to a student in Mrs. Ford's class.

Mrs. Campbell, library assistant, is caught by the "Hit Squad" during St. Valentine's massacre.

A happy event was the sending and receiving of flowers—red and white carnations. Staff and students received this event with great acclaim.

The surprise of the week was the St. Valentine's Massacre. Students purchased a "hit team." Without warning the "hit squad" pounced upon the unsuspecting victim and made their "kill."

The annual staff wrapped up the week with a "Heart to Heart" photo booth. Students who desired pictures taken with their loved one posed for posterity and future memories.
Valentine Massacre recreated on campus

Ms. Anita Perez is caught off-guard by the St. Valentine's Massacre squad.

No one is safe with the 'Hit Squad' keeping their appointment.

After a grueling semester and finals, it was a relief to come to a week of celebration provided by the student council.

The Red Heart Week was a huge success according to all accounts. Favorite activities such as the carnation gifts and singing telegrams joined the St. Valentine's massacre which surprised everyone. The computer match brought on many surprises to the staff and students.

Mrs. Huckman looks on from a vantage point in the concession stand. She always roots for the winner.

This is the fourth Junior-Senior powder puff game, the first game being played in 1978. It is now a game which has set some rules and tradition. The cheerleaders is a case in point.

Our cheerleaders come from the ranks of the most muscular, hairy junior and senior boys. They always turn on the capacity crowds as they did this year.

The seniors took the game with a 7-0 score but it does not truly reflect the hard fought battle that took place on the gridiron. The girls really gave their all as they do each year.
The junior and senior girls give it their all in defense of their honor at the powder puff game.

The juniors proved to be strong in defense of their crown during the powder puff game. However, the seniors were a bit too fleet of foot and strong on defense and they took a tightly fought battle 7-0.

It was all in fun, however, and all the girls were still good friends after the tournament. The fans, as usual, were the real winners, being entertained to a fun filled evening of frivolity and mirth.
It's been a rough haul for the varsity

It's a new look for flag girls, majorette and band members

Left to right: Jackie Hale, modeling flag girl uniform, Jil Guaira, models new drum major outfit, and Tammy Hatsefield displays new band uniform.

The new band uniforms will bring life and style to next years outings for the fans. The uniforms, basic orange, black and white and black trim fit into our new spirit and new feeling for the Orange and White Trojan.

Members of the band, choir, flag girls and drum major sold many boxes of candy, candles, cards and what-all to raise the necessary funds for the new uniforms. The board of education voted the necessary remaining funds to make sure our group would stand out next year.
Royal Gambit presents sophisticated theatre

Jon Stewart and Susan Nelson await the court in a highly tense scene from "The Royal Gambit."

Jon Stewart, Henry VIII, and Susan Nelson, one of the many wives of Henry, soothes his majesty in a fine production scene.

His majesty has finally succumbed to life's pains and Jon makes the most of the moment. Mary Cano brings her soothing, tender feelings to the fore.

The Poor Boy Players went for sophistication this year with their UIL presentation of "The Royal Gambit." It proved to be very entertaining as stated by many in the audience.

"The Royal Gambit" was selected alternate in the Sinton competition with Jon Stewart picking up acting honors. Other honors went to Susan Nelson, Terri Basinger and Mary Cano. The costuming was realistic and dashing.

Such a play is not easy to produce, nor easy to perform for high school students. However, The Poor Boy Players came through in the clutch and came away winners.

Boy's Chorale: Andy Brown, Ken Minnix, Ronnie Bisnet and Arnold DeLaGozza present songs for the spring concert.
White swans decorate prom tables

It's hard work and pleasure getting set up for the Junior-Senior Prom as evidenced by Bobby Hernandez, Amelia Hernandez, Dinah Salinas, Irina Turov, Connie Castillo.

Jeff Bernal and Dinah Salinas work out a pattern for the display to be set up at the prom.

Lety Manning holds Simeon Garza's little yellow ducky as a model for the painting of the ducky.
Disneyland sets the theme for smashing prom

With Disneyland celebrating its tenth birthday in Florida, the Junior Class made an appropriate selection in choosing Disneyland as their theme for the 1982 Junior-Senior Prom.

Blue and gold were the colors selected to form the color backdrop and accessories. The white rose was selected as the prom flower. On the tables were white swans floating on blue tablecloths.

1982 proved to be a fine year for the prom which held its first in the coliseum, previously being held in the school cafeteria. The crowd proved the selection was correct.

Gary Davis provided the rhythmical background for the evening's dancing. Always a popular group he again proved his drawing power.

Annual event again very popular with all
Veteran's Memorial Park was the scene for the April 7 AFS Picnic hosted by Christina Makrund (Sweden), John Michael Gernatt (Belgium), and John Francois Simon (Belgium). A.C. Jones, Beeville, George West and Buffalo, New York were the representative high schools.

Ms. Anita Perez, adviser, saw to it that a typical picnic luncheon—hamburgers, chips, pickles, punch, cake and marshmallows—was provided for our foreign visitors.

Activities included the Pinata breaking, frisbee tossing and softball, along with "any healthy" activity. An Easter egg hunt topped off the festivities.

Frisbee tossing is known by everyone around the world as Lagger Johansen from Sweden proves to AFS member Isaac Guerrero.

John Michael Gernatt and John Francois Simon try out a slide at the AFS picnic and store up memories for their return to Belgium.

Lagger Johansen enjoys his AFS outing with Beth Minnie and Rhonda Blanton.
There is nothing like a picnic to bring people together

Christina Marklund, Sweden, learns the joy of breaking a Pinata as Mike Teter and Larry Andrade with Beth Minnie try to confuse her.

John Michael and John Francois take their turn at barbecuing a hamburger. An American treat.

"Me, Jane! You Tarzan" cries Christina Marklund.

ALMA MATER

We pledge our honor to the orange and white.
We will be loyal through the day and night.
Even when we are losing, we are winning, too,
With our high spirits and hearts so true.

FIGHT SONG

Hail to the Trojans, cheer them along their way.
Onward to victory, may they win again today.
We'll give a cheer for the Trojans—
Shout: Till the echoes ring,
For the glory of our team.
Trojans win district golf title
Lady Trojans take regional’s seventh

The A.C. Jones Trojan boys’ golf team ran away with the district championship at Padre Island Country Club. The Trojans recorded team scores of 319 and 317 for a two-day total of 636. Flint Britton and Scott Bond led the Trojans to victory. A seventh place at the regional golf tournament held at Corpus Christi gave the Lady Trojans a fine outing. The Beeville girls had a team score of 1,297, led by Libby Hitchcock with a 266 two-day total.
Male and Female equal on the greens

Robin Ray, Stephanie Luna and Gerri Herricks point their shafts toward victory.

The Trojan ladies came through in the tough spots this year to come out as winners in two tournaments—the Corpus Christi outing and the Gulf Coast contest.

Robin Ray, Stephanie Luna, and Gerri Herricks turned out each day this year and practiced, practiced, and practiced. They made their tournament events and let no grass grow under their feet. They did not always win in the rough, but they came away after having given their all to the cause.

Since three of the girls team are freshmen, it is a certainty that Coach Smith has a lot to look forward to in the future.
Honor society inducts 22 members

Ms. Dugas presents her Trojan newspaper and journalism awards to Scott Walker, Harriet O'Brien, David Mendes, Rhonda Blanton and Susan Nelson.

Mrs. Galloway shares the stage with Pan American award winners Cynthia Gana, Joe Buckley and Isabel Garcia.
Over two-hundred receive awards

Mr. Boyer, principal, awards a certificate of honor to Allison Adair, one of many awards Allison picked up during the ceremonies.

Rhonda Blanton picks up an award from Mr. Zidicky, choir director.

Mrs. Galloway gives Joe Buckley his Pan American award.

Mr. Jordan awards the BCC Social Studies honors to Robert Garcia, Susan Nelson and Bobby Ivy.

Some of our best: Allison Adair, Rhonda Blanton, Lelie Dalton, Sue Bourassa and Lori Groves take the front row. In back are Curtis Roberts, Mike Barnes, Mike Teter, Gerald Krawitz and Doyle May.

Jennie Green is elated with her acting award given by Ms. Hoff.

Terry Basinger receives her acting award for her role in THE ROYAL GAMBIT.

I NEVER SAW A MOOR

I never saw a moor,
I never saw the sea;
Yet I know how the heather looks,
And what a wave must be.

I never spoke with God,
Nor visited in heaven;
Yet certain am I of the spot
As if the chart were given.

Emily Dickinson
