INVISIONS OF A DIPLOMA

Class Motto: Through all the happiness and sorrow, I guess I'd do it all again;
Live for today and not tomorrow, It's still the rode that never ends.

Song: "HERE I GO AGAIN"--WHITE SNAKE

Flower: ORCHID

Colors: HUNTER GREEN AND SILVER

What does a Senior experience that an underclassman does not? Everything seems to be a final impression or a last chance. Pep rallies are opportunities for Seniors to show that they rule by spraying silly string at the Juniors or holding up signs with degrading comments about their younger rivals. The Prom, whether spent with a sweetheart or a best friend, is probably the most memorable dance of a high school career (a night at "The Grand" can not compare). The Seniors get the first pick at the tables in the cafeteria, always end up at the front of the lunch line, and have enough practice to cruise from Stars to the Post Office blind folded. Seniors feel chills down their spines when they hear their class song, and in the end, comes the night every Senior has waited for their whole life ... GRADUATION.

Looking Forward to Their Turn

Ranked #1: Jennifer Warner
Ranked #2: Dawn Kessler

When you’re finally a Junior, no one can make fun of you for being an “underclassman.” Being a Junior usually means that you’re old enough to drive -- you may not get a car, but one of your friends is bound to. You become eligible to exempt semester exams, leave for off campus lunch, and go to the prom (in something other than a toga). It’s your turn to choose the prom theme and what the Sophomore servers have to wear. You are one step closer to being on the Varsity team - unless you already are, and now classes get really hard. If you are college bound, you start taking standardized tests, and researching schools. Being a Junior means you’re almost there... but the fun has just begun!

Two Years Left to Look Forward to

Ranked #1: Brandon Sehlke
Ranked #2: Lindsey Burhing

The beginning of a Sophomore's year is pure bliss simply because of the fact that you're not a Freshman any more. It's your turn to pull the pranks. Up until March, a Sophomore's main focus is the TAAS Test. Teachers are preoccupied with getting you to pass the Reading, Writing, and Math (without a calculator). Several Sophomores take Drivers Ed because they turn sixteen. Also, you are the right legal age to get a job. You have the chance to take the PSAT during school. If you really want to go to Prom, you can go as a server. Fund raisers are a major deal, i.e. video yearbook. You do not have to play sports on Freshman teams. Tenth grade is the greatest year of high school because you are no longer a newcomer, but the stresses of college prep seem in the far distance.

SEEING WHAT IT'S ALL ABOUT

Ranked #1: Katherine Hill
Ranked #2: Gretchen Heldenfels

The first year in high school is always the worst. Everything from being called "fish" to being the brunt of cruel jokes fall on the freshmen. You find out that research papers really do involve research. Due dates are due dates. Late excuses are listened to, but rarely excuse the lateness. You are suddenly responsible for everything you do. No longer can you blame someone else for your mistakes and be believed (your teachers have heard the same excuse from 8,000 other "fish" and no longer believe it). You go from being the top dog at junior high, to bottom of the totem pole in high school. But cheer up. Next year you will be sophomores. You'll know the ropes. You will be the ones pulling the stunts on the new freshmen. All too soon the years will pass and you'll be graduating. Semper fi, fish, semper fi.

Our Childhood

author unknown

We are the children of the eighties. We are not the first “lost generation” nor today’s lost generation; in fact we think we know just where we stand— or are discovering it just as we speak.

We are the ones who played with Lego Building Blocks when they were just building blocks and gave Malibu Barbie crewnuts with safety scissors that never really cut.

We collected Garbage Pail Kids and Cabbage Patch Kids, My Little Ponies and Hot Wheels, He-Man action figures and thought She-Ra looked just a little bit like I would when I was a woman.

Big Wheels and bicycles and streamers were the way to go, and sidewalk chalk was all you needed to build a city.

Imagination was the key. It made the Ewok Treehouse big enough for you to be Luke, and the kitchen table and an old sheet dark enough to be a tent in the forest.

Your world was the backyard and it was all you needed. With your pink portable tape player, Debbie Gibson sang back up to you.

Everyone wanted a skirt like the Material Girl and a glove like Michael Jackson’s. Today we are the ones who sing along with Bruce Springsteen and the Bangles perfectly and have no idea why. We recite lines with The Ghostbusters and still look to the Goonies for a great adventure.

We flip through TV stations and stop at The A-Team, Knight Rider, and Fame. We still laugh with the Cosby Show, Family Ties, and Punky Brewster.

We hold strong affections for the Gummy Bears and the Muppets, and why did they take The Smurfs off the air?

After school specials were only about cigarettes and step families. The Polka Dot Door was nothing like Barney, and aren’t The Power Rangers just Voltron reincarnated?

We are the ones who still read Nancy Drew and the Hardy Boys, Beverly Cleary, Judy Blume, and Richard Scary.

Friendship bracelets were ties you couldn’t break and friendship pins were on shoes—preferably hightop velcro Reeboks—and pegged jeans were in, as were unit belts, layered socks, jean jackets, jams, and side pony tails.

Rave was a girl’s best friend, and braces with colored rubber bands made you look cool.

The back door was always opened and Mom always served red Kool-Aid to the neighborhood kids.

Entertainment was cheap and lasted for hours. All you needed to be princess was high heels and an apron; the Sit-in-Spin made you dizzy but never made you stop. Pogo Balls were dangerous weapons and Chinese Jump Ropes never failed to trip some one. In your underoos you were Wonderwoman, or Spiderman, or R2D2, and in your tree house you were king.

In the eighties nothing was wrong. Did you know that the president was shot or that Star Wars was not only a movie?

Did you ever play in a bomb shelter? Did you see the Challenger explode or feed a homeless man?

We forgot Vietnam and watched Tianmann’s Square on CNN, and bought pieces of the Berlin Wall at the store.

AIDS was not the number one killer in the U.S. We didn’t start the fire, Billy Joel.

In the eighties we redefined the American Dream, and those years defined us.

We are the generation in between strife and facing strife and turning our backs.

The eighties might have made us idealistic, but it is idealism that will push us up and be passed on to our children—the children of the twenty-first century. Never forget we are the children of the eighties.

Eye on the Prize

Football, Basketball, Volleyball, Tennis, Track, Cross Country, Soccer, Baseball, Softball, Golf, Sp. Olympics, Wrestling

Athletes, especially in South Texas, are tough. Actual game time is only half of the challenge. Athletes run, lift weights, and practice until they ache. Two-a-day practice is nothing to joke about, but playing sports takes more than strength and team spirit. It's about being able to come home from games late at night, stinky, sweaty, and with a backpack full of homework, without freaking out. It's about recovering from a loss, and being proud of a win, taking advice, and knowing that no one is perfect. Athletes are role models. Half the fun of highschool is watching friends excell on the court, field, or track. They make us proud. How colorful the hallways are with banners urging our teams to win. What a great five minutes we miss during 3rd period announcements, hearing about our wins!

TEARING IT UP

There are many things I will remember about the 1997 Trojan football team. Who could forget the comeback they made at G.P.? What a treat that must have been for the fans that made the trip. At Hebronville they knew how important it was to put the game away early. What better way to do that than to run back the opening kickoff for a touchdown. The heartbreaking overtime loss to Pleasanton would have broken most teams but the Trojans bounced back with consecutive wins over Southside and West Campus. They kept their playoff hopes alive to the very end. Most importantly, I will never forget their dedication to one another. Through good and bad they stuck together. They truly understood the meaning of FAMILY.

Eager-Eyed Enthusiasm

Cheerleaders, Dazzlers, and our SPH class made sure our athletes knew that their school backed them and supported them.

From the first pep rally to the very last day of school, spirit was rampant at A. C. Jones. We had posters on every wall promoting all sorts of sports. We had orange and white ribbons tied to anything that did not move. The field house was decorated during football season and the school lockers were targeted for everything else. LOOK AT US NOW

Burning of the BT, Homecoming, Fall Play, Annual, Class Favorites, One-Act-Play, Powder Puff, and Prom.

There are so many things to do during a school year that it is hard for many to keep up. On top of sports, academics, musical and club involvement, students also have events to go to that tradition dictates can not be missed. This year’s burning of the BT set forth a new twist on an old theme -- no rags, just gas jets. What an awesome look that was. Two homecoming weeks -- let’s not do that again! An incredible fall play. Super acts at Annual. Some surprise class favorites. A one-act-play with a girl in the male lead (and boy did she do a great job). Another very hot and fast paced powder puff game won by the juniors. Heaven on Earth with an angel ice sculpture and beautiful decorations. If you weren’t at some of these events -- you really missed out.

With our eyes on the goal, we press on to reach the mark. We will not be moved from our target.
Burning of the BI
In 1997 Homecoming ended up being double the fun. Due to severe rain and thunder storms during Homecoming #1 (October 10), we re-scheduled, and held Homecoming #2 two weeks later on October 24. Dress Up Week turned out to be Dress Up Weeks. Students got their money's worth out of the mums by wearing them twice. The depression over the cancellation of the burning of the "BT" quickly ended when Mr. Johnson announced that it would still be held the Thursday before Homecoming #2. The first game we devastatingly lost to Pleasanton, but we made up for it by creaming West Campus in the second game. How many students at other schools get the thrill of Homecoming twice?
Strangers offered their help.

Some seemed oblivious to it all.

Others were dazed.

Teachers stood by helplessly.

Homecoming rocked our world for two weeks.

KING AND QUEEN
So, What Happened Outside of A. C. Jones during the '97-'98 School Year?

GOVERNMENT:
Democratic President Bill Clinton was accused of all kinds of illegal and unethical acts, such as the Whitewater scandal and sexual affairs with different women, particularly Monica Lewinsky.

DEATHS:
Students in Springfield, Oregon; West Paducah, Kentucky; Jonesboro, Arkansas; Pearl, Mississippi; and Edinboro, Pennsylvania murdered fellow students, teachers, and family members.
Actor: Chris Farley
Princess: Diane of Whales
Actor: John Candy
Singer: Frank Sinatra
Rapper: Notorious B. I. G.
Designer: Versaci
Actor: Phil Hartman
Cartoon Characters: Beevis and Butthead

WORLD-WIDE HEADLINES:
El Nino weather pattern caused draughts, tornadoes, floods, and other disasters, ruining nations' economies.
Uncontrollable fires in Mexico and Guatemala polluted the airs of neighboring countries, as well as most of the United States.
Pakistan and India developed nuclear bombs.
The medicine Viagra for impotence was bought and sold in almost every kind of market.
Pope John Paul visited Cuba and was allowed to hold a public mass.

ENTERTAINMENT:
The movie “Titanic” was a huge hit -- not only on the big screen, but also for Celine Dion who sang the theme song.
Electronic music became popular around the world, including bands like Prodigy and Chemical Brothers.
The rap music scene spread like it never had before, due to artists like Puff Daddy, Mase, and Will Smith.
The Spice Girls went Platinum practically overnight. They also announced a split-up in May.
The talk shows—Jerry Springer, Oprah Winfrey, and Rosie O’Donnell were watched more than ever across the nation.
The comedy sit-com “Seinfeld” had its grand finale leaving viewers devastated.
Southpark, a cartoon not to be watched by children, became so popular volumes of it could be rented at the video store, and t-shirts advertising it could be purchased in almost any store.

Open-Eyed Realism

Academic Decathlon, Valedictorian, Salutatorian, Who's Who, UIL, Renaissance, Academic Awards, and Faculty Selected Honors.

It all begins with that very first day of kindergarten. You arrive at school scared, yet excited too. Little did you realize that nine years later school would become a job with no overtime pay, but lots of room for growth. What you do with your high school career decides what you do with your life. Scary, huh? Well, scores have gone before you and scores will follow you. What kind of path will you leave for them?

Education is not for here and now, but for your future.

Valedictorian

Jennifer Menn, the A.C. Jones Class of 1998 Valedictorian plans to attend Texas A&M - Corpus Christi for two years. She then plans to transfer to Texas A&M - College Station.

Jennifer's favorite memory of her highschool years will always be Mr. Belew's biology class. She has said numerous times that learning was fun with Mr. Belew and it is the teacher that makes learning fun. Jennifer strives to be successful and we are confident that she will achieve this goal.
Salutatorian

Erik Burns, the A.C. Jones Class of 1998 Salutatorian plans to attend Rice University as a national Merit Scholar.

Erik's favorite memory of high school was the 1998 Prom. He has stated various times that being with his friends was all he enjoyed in life. Being an involved person, Erik has been very successful and we wish him the best.

Although we come to school to study English, Math, Science, and Social Studies, there are social skills to learn through joining any organization at A. C. Jones—for example, meeting a whole new group of people on the Spanish Club field trip to Mexico, or on the choir's Spring Break trip to Florida. FCA is supposed to stand for Fellowship of Christian Athletes, but some might call it Food and Comaradery Always! Drama students put on shows that make the whole school shake with laughter. Basically, a student is really missing out if they are not involved in an organization at JHS.

Watching Over Us

Principals, counselors, teachers, nurses, librarians, assistants, secretaries, registrar, attendance office, cafeteria workers, and janitors.

It takes more than just one group of people to make sure a high school runs smoothly. The on-site workers do their best to ensure each student a successful year. They watch out for the students and try to take care of as many problems as they possibly can. How many of you lost your locker combinations and had to have a janitor open your locker for you? How many times did you lose your lunch ticket? Did you ever get called to the office to have money delivered to you? Who set your schedule and entered your grades on your report cards? Ever have a headache or feel sick to your stomach? We breeze through our classes and don’t stop to consider the people who make it happen for us. Next time, say thank you to those who help you on your way to success.

Graduation 1998

For Baccalaureat the seniors gathered in the Student Center, then made their way through the school halls to the auditorium, where Mickey Hurry, father of Karen, prepared them for the real world.
From the beginning processional that filled the visitor's side of the field 'til the last moment of the evening, the graduates made memories for themselves and their families. It was a night to remember.
Marissa’s bus wasn’t quite in the swing of things.
